THE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

HISTORICAL STATEMENT

IN order to provide more adequate means for the separate higher education of young women, the Trustees of Western Reserve University established the College for Women in 1888. The first session began in September of the same year. For the first three years of its existence the college depended largely for its courses of instruction upon members of the faculty of Adelbert College. At the end of that period it acquired a separate corps of instructors, and since that time each of the two colleges, the one for women and the other for men, has had a faculty of its own. The two colleges have a common standard of work, and in several departments, by the exchange of work and other arrangements, instruction is given in each college by members of the faculty of the other. Graduates of the College for Women receive their degrees from the University, and the system is thus not one of co-education, nor of complete separation in education, but of coördination.

In 1892 the college came to occupy its present site on Bellflower Road, in the most attractive and healthful part of the city, a few steps from Euclid avenue on the one side and from Wade Park and the great system of parks and boulevards on the other. In 1898 and again in 1903 the college grounds were enlarged, so that they now contain about six acres. Clark Hall, named from its donor, Mrs. Eliza Clark, was erected in 1892. It contains the library, together with recitation and study rooms. A home for students, called Guilford House, the gift of Mrs. Samuel Mather, was built in 1892 and greatly enlarged in 1894. In 1902 the same donor built Haydn Hall, which provides accommodations for study and social purposes. The Florence Harkness Memorial, in addition to providing a chapel and auditorium, contains also a recitation room and library for the Bible classes. In 1904 was erected the Mary Chisholm Painter memorial gateway. A new gymnasium was completed in 1907. A building in memory of Mrs. Samuel Mather for recitation, lecture, and administrative purposes was finished in 1913. A building also in her memory, for dormitory purposes, was erected by graduates and friends in 1913-14.

The laboratories for Biology, Chemistry, Geology, and Physics are situated on the campus of Adelbert College and are used in common with the students of that college. The Adelbert College Library and the Astronomical Observatory are also used in common.

The laboratory for the Household Administration department is situated at 2041 Adelbert Road.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

Candidates for admission are to present satisfactory testimonials of charactor.

Fifteen units* are required for admission to the Freshman class.

SUBJECTS REQUIRED OF CANDIDATES FOR THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF ARTS

REQUIRED SUBJECTS—9½ units.

English—3 units.

Foreign Language (Ancient or Modern)—4 units in one language or 2 units in each of two languages.

Mathematics—1½ units in Algebra.
1 unit in Plane Geometry.

OPTIONAL SUBJECTS—5½ units.

Additional units selected from the above mentioned subjects, or from History, Civics, the Sciences or Applied Arts. (2 units are credited for three years of Applied Arts, or 1 unit for two years.)

Candidates will be admitted whose records show that their work in the preparatory schools has been of satisfactory grade.

SUBJECTS REQUIRED OF CANDIDATES FOR THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF SCIENCE
(HOUSEHOLD ADMINISTRATION)

Students who meet the requirements stated above may enter the Household Administration course. Although History is in the optional group, it is recommended that as many students as possible present two units in that subject.

Instead of the subjects stated above, candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Science may present the following:

REQUIRED SUBJECTS—9 units.

English—3 units.

Foreign Language (Ancient or Modern)—2 units in one language.

* A unit represents a subject pursued five periods a week for one year.

Mathematics—1 unit in Algebra.
1 unit in Plane Geometry.
History or Physics or Chemistry—2 units.

OPTIONAL SUBJECTS—6 units.

Additional units selected from the above mentioned subjects, or from the Sciences, Domestic Science or Applied Arts. (2 units are credited for three years of Applied Arts, or 1 unit for two years.)

Candidates will be admitted whose records show that their work in the preparatory schools has been of satisfactory grade.

SUBJECTS REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION

An outline of subjects required for admission follows:

ENGLISH. A—The books prescribed for reading and practice for students entering in 1923 and 1924 are: (Two selections from each group, except that for any book in Group V a book from any other may be substituted.)

Group 1. Dickens' A Tale of Two Cities; George Eliot's Silas Marner; Scott's Quentin Durward; Stevenson's Treasure Island or Kidnapped; Hawthorne's The House of the Seven Gables.

Group 2. Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice, Julius Caesar, King Henry V, As You Like It.

Group 3. Scott's The Lady of the Lake; Coleridge's The Ancient Mariner and Arnold's Sohrab and Rustum; a collection of representative verse, narrative and lyric, for example, Palgrave's Golden Treasury (First Series), Books II and III, with special attention to Dryden, Collins, Gray, Cowper, and Burns, and Book IV, with special attention to Wordsworth, Keats, and Shelley; Tennyson's Idylls of the King (any four), The Coming of Arthur, The Holy Grail, Gareth and Lynette, Launcelot and Elaine, and The Passing of Arthur; The Aeneid or The Odyssey in a translation of recognized excellence, with the omission, if desired, of Books I-V, XV, and XVI of The Odyssey.

Group 4. The Old Testament (the chief narrative episodes in Genesis, Exodus, Joshua, Judges, Samuel, Kings, and Daniel, together with the books of Ruth and Esther); Irving's The Sketch Book (about 175 pages); Addison and Steele's The Sir Roger de Coverley Papers; Macaulay's Lord Clive; Parkman's The Oregon Trail; Franklin's Autobiography.

Group 5. (All selections from this group should be works of recognized excellence.) A modern novel; a collection of short stories (about 150 pages)—Smith's Short Stories, Old and New; a collection of contemporary verse (about 150 pages); a collection of prose writings on matters of current interest (about 150 pages)—Speare and Norris' World War Issues and Ideals; two modern plays.

B. The books prescribed for study and practice are: (One selection from each group.)

Group 1. Shakespeare's Macbeth, Hamlet.

Group 2. Milton's L'Allegro, Il Penseroso, and either Comus or Lycidas: Browning's Cavalier Tunes, The Lost Leader, How They Brought the Good News from Ghent to Aix, Home Thoughts from Abroad, Home Thoughts from the Sea, Incident of the French Camp, Hervé Riel, Pheidippides, My Last Duchess, Up at a Villa—Down in the City, The Italian in England, The Patriot, The Pied Piper. "De Gustibus—", Instans Tyrannus, One Word More.

Group 3. Macaulay's Life of Johnson; Carlyle's Essay on Burns, with a brief selection from Burn's Poems; Arnold's Wordsworth, with a brief selection from Wordsworth's Poems.

Group 4. Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America; a collection of orations, to include at least Washington's Farewell Address, Webster's First Bunker Hill Oration, and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

LATIN: The essentials of the grammar, including a thorough knowledge of the forms and constructions, Roman pronunciation. Cæsar—three books of the Gallic War, or two books of the Civil War. Cicero—six orations, including De Imperio Cn. Pompeii. Virgil—six books of the Æneid or the amounts of Virgil and Ovid prescribed by the College Entrance Examination Board. The translation at sight of passages from prose authors. Prose Composition—rendering of simple English sentences into Latin. History of Rome. It is expected that the student will be familiar with the elements of the History of Rome—see requirements in History.

MATHEMATICS: Arithmetic, including the metric system of weights and measures. Algebra (Milne's or Taylor's Academic, or Wentworth's College), including Arithmetical and Geometric Progression and the Binomial Theorem. Plane Geometry (Beman and Smith, Milne, or Wells).

NOTE: It is very important that students review a portion at least of both Algebra and Geometry in their last preparatory year.

In addition to the above, each candidate must offer five and one-half units of preparation for the degree of Bachelor of Arts and six units for the degree of Bachelor of Science (Household Administration) selected from the following:

GREEK: Grammar: Xenophon—four books of the Anabasis (or an equivalent). The foregoing represents the minimum requirements of two units. Homer—three books of the Iliad with prosody. The translation at sight of easy passages in Attic prose. Prose Composition—the rendering into Greek of simple English sentences. The student is expected to be familiar with the elements of the History of Greece—see requirements in History.

FRENCH—FIRST UNIT: The rudiments of the Grammar, including thorough knowledge of forms, and the simpler syntax. The reading of not less than two hundred pages of graded modern prose. Ability to pronounce, and to answer simple questions in French.

SECOND UNIT: A review of the Grammar, with special emphasis on the syntax. Writing of French; practice in conversation. The reading, in addition to that indicated above, of not less than three hundred pages of modern prose chosen from standard fiction, plays, and history.

THIRD UNIT: Continued study of Grammar. Advanced practice in speaking and writing French. Reading, in addition to amounts prescribed in units one and two, of about five hundred pages of more difficult texts, including at least one play each of Corneille, Racine, and Molière.

GERMAN—FIRST UNIT: Elementary Grammar, including a thorough knowledge of forms and the simpler syntax; reading of about one hundred and fifty pages of easy modern German prose (a little poetry may be included); ability to answer in German simple questions about the texts read.

SECOND UNIT: Further study of the grammar, particularly of the syntax; writing German; practice in conversation; reading, in addition to the amount indicated above, of about two hundred and fifty pages of modern stories and plays from standard authors (a little poetry may be included).

THIRD UNIT: Continued study of the Grammar, practice in writing and speaking German; reading, in addition to the amount prescribed above, of about four hundred pages of classical and modern prose and poetry.

MATHEMATICS: Solid geometry, including spherical (Beman and Smith, Milne, Wells, or Phillips and Fisher).

CHEMISTRY: McPherson and Henderson's Chemistry or an equivalent.

PHYSICS: Any standard text-book. Class-work through one year. Each student must perform in the laboratory thirty-five or forty experiments, mainly quantitative, such as are given in the best laboratory manuals.

HISTORY. Greek and Roman History (a separate course distinct from work in Latin or Greek); Medieval and Modern History; English History; American History and Civil Government. These courses are suggested in the order of preference.

BOTANY: A course in Elementary Botany.

ZOOLOGY: A course in Elementary Zoology.

BIOLOGY: A course in Elementary or General Biology, which deals with the structure and habits of typical animals and plants. All biological courses must include laboratory work in the direct study of living things.

METHODS OF ADMISSION

Admission to the Freshman class may be gained in one of two ways, either by examination, or by the presentation of a certificate from an approved High School or Academy. Each of these methods is outlined below.

ADMISSION BY EXAMINATION

In June, 1925, the entrance examinations of the College will be those of the College Entrance Examination Board (of which the College is a member).

Application for the privilege of taking them must be made upon a blank form to be obtained from the Secretary of the Board, 431 West 117th Street, New York City, on or before May 25, 1925.

The Secretary will furnish all necessary information regarding the place and time of examinations. A fee of nine dollars must be paid to the Secretary by every candidate in the United States taking these examinations.

A list of the places at which examinations are to be held by the Board in June, 1925, will be published about March 1. Requests that they be held at particular points, to receive proper consideration, should be transmitted to the Secretary of the Board not later than February 1.

ADMISSION BY CERTIFICATE

Students from such High Schools and Academies as may be approved by the Faculty are admitted to the Freshman class without examination, on the presentation of certificates showing that they have satisfactorily completed the requisite amount of preparatory study. Blank forms of such certificates will be furnished on application to the Registrar. Applicants for admission are requested to present their certificates or send them by mail to the Registrar during the Commencement week or soon thereafter. The number of students that can be accepted is limited by the ability of the College to make suitable provision for them. Early application is therefore advisable.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

Candidates for admission to the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes will be given credit for satisfactory work certified to by approved colleges previously attended. A letter of honorable dismissal is required.

No student may receive a degree unless she has been in residence at the College for Women at least one year.

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

FOR THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF ARTS

Forty-two courses,* under the following conditions, are required for graduation. Each student must elect at least one laboratory course.

The work of the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior years is elective under conditions outlined below.

If the work of the first year does not include Greek or Latin, two courses in ancient history, in ancient art or in Greek and Roman Literature will be required before graduation.

The courses offered to students entering the Freshman year are as follows:

A. Language and Literature:
English, Latin, Greek, German, French, Italian, Spanish.

B. Mathematics and Science:
Trigonometry, Botany, Physiology, Zoology, Chemistry, Physics.

C. History, Philosophy and Social Science:
History, Biblical Literature.

Of the courses, each student in the Freshman year must elect five, including at least one subject from each group. †

Social Sciences are not open to Freshmen.

Physical Education is required of Freshmen three times a week throughout the year.

Electives, 15 hours a week throughout the year. Only 12 hours a week are required of Seniors with the average grade of G, if they file a statement in the office that they desire the additional time for further study.

Each student shall choose, not later than the close of the Sophomore year, a chief field of work in a department. The head of the department shall act as her adviser in arranging the order in which the studies of the department shall be pursued. In individual cases the adviser may designate courses in related departments, not exceeding two in number, which he will accept as a part of the chief field of work. In this field eight courses including courses already taken in Freshman and Sophomore years, must be completed before graduation.

Each student shall also choose a secondary field of work in which she shall complete six courses. The secondary field shall be in a department of the same group,† unless special reasons exist for the choice of studies in a

*A course is reckoned as three hours a week throughout a half-year. Since the work in Physical Education demands no outside preparation, three hours a week of that work constitute only half a course.

†The courses of study are regarded in the following groups:

A. Language and Literature.

B. Mathematics and Science.

C. History, Philosophy, and Social Science.

department of another group. With the consent of the head of the department, two courses in a related department may be accepted as a part of the requirement.

Each student shall take six courses within each of the two groups in which the chief and secondary fields of work do not lie. Two of the six courses must be consecutive courses in the same department.

Physical Education is required of Sophomores three times a week throughout the year.

Students are held responsible for observing the requirements for the degree and the proper sequence of courses.

FOR THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF SCIENCE
(Household Administration)

Forty-two courses are required for graduation. The work extends over four years. A student's major purpose determines the selection of her work.

Programs may be classified in two main groups, first, the professional programs which aim to give definite preparation for specific occupations, and second, the non-professional programs which do not aim to prepare for responsibilities outside the home. In all groups of courses it has been the purpose to offer a large proportion of the liberal or cultural subjects rather than to train highly specialized technicians.

The work of the freshman year is the same for all students and is as follows:

English 1 and 2	Chemistry 1 and 2
History 1 and 2	or
Household Administration 1 and 2	Chemistry 3 and 4
or	Physiology 5
Household Administration 1a	Biology 4.

In subsequent years there are certain required subjects. In addition to these, there is considerable freedom of election in order that students of different aims and aptitudes may work as advantageously as possible.

The non-professional course is adapted to those students who wish to devote the major part of their time to work in academic fields, but who also wish to take more courses in Foods, Clothing and Household Management than are permitted for the degree of Bachelor of Arts. The only stated requirements after the freshman year are as follows: six additional Household Administration courses, one semester of Psychology, two semester courses to be chosen from the departments of English, History, or Modern Language, two in Economics, two in Sociology and one in Home Nursing. Students are advised to choose in the sophomore year some academic field in which enough courses shall be taken to constitute a major. The four year program should be carefully planned under the guidance of a faculty adviser.

A bulletin giving more in detail the sequences of subjects offered and information in regard to opportunities open to graduates will be sent upon application to the Registrar.

Students are held responsible for observing the requirements for the degree and the proper sequence of courses.

COMBINED FIVE YEAR COURSE

Many of the subjects in the Household Administration course are academic in their nature and are regularly accredited for the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

It is, therefore, possible for a student to earn in five years both the degree of Bachelor of Science and the degree of Bachelor of Arts if she plans her work early enough to meet the requirements for both degrees. A number of students have already chosen this combined course, and it is strongly recommended for those to whom the additional year means no serious hardship.

CREDITS FROM SUMMER SCHOOLS

Students matriculated in the college may present credits, not exceeding in any case 9 semester hours, from an approved collegiate or university summer school. The permission of the Executive Committee should be secured in advance.

HOUSEHOLD ADMINISTRATION COURSE FOR COLLEGE GRADUATES

Graduates of other colleges may do work in the Household Administration Department toward a degree of Bachelor of Science. This will usually occupy two years, but if a candidate in her undergraduate study has already met certain requirements, the amount of work will be correspondingly less. It is not ordinarily possible, however, to meet all requirements in a single year of residence. College graduates who desire special work in Foods and Nutrition, Household Management or in Textiles and Clothing, but who do not purpose to complete the requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Science, may arrange schedules for such work with the Dean.

COURSE IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE CLEVELAND SCHOOL OF ART

By an arrangement with The Cleveland School of Art, a six-year course of study is offered, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science from this College. The course requires three years (ninety semester hours in addition to physical education) at the College for Women and three years at the School of Art. Household Administration students who wish to become specialists in costume design and interior decoration are urged to consider this combination course. Such students should specialize in textiles and clothing. Detailed information will be furnished by the Dean of the College or by the Director of the Cleveland School of Art.

Students in the liberal arts course are allowed four credits in art toward the Bachelor of Arts degree.

COURSE IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE SCHOOL OF LIBRARY SCIENCE

Students wishing to combine the college course with that of the School of Library Science of Western Reserve University may receive the degree of Bachelor of Science and the Certificate of the School of Library Science at the end of four years. To this end one year of credit will be given in the College for a year's work done in the School of Library Science. The year at the School of Library Science should be the Senior year.

COURSE IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE SCHOOLS OF LAW AND MEDICINE

By arrangement with the Law School and the School of Medicine of Western Reserve University opportunity is offered to students, who have completed in the College for Women 90 semester hours of work in addition to physical education and have met the specific requirements for graduation from the College to elect all of their senior work in the professional schools, thereby shortening the combined course one year.

In the combined course with the School of Medicine, the required subjects in the College are Chemistry 1 and 4 or 3 and 4, 5 and 6; Physics 1, 2, 3 and 4; Biology 1, 2, and 3; English 1 and 2; Foreign Language three courses.

The School of Medicine has found it necessary to limit the number of students admitted to the first year class. The selection of candidates is based essentially on their academic record. The specific subjects required for entrance to the Medical School must be completed with a grade of "Fair" or better. Applications should be in the hands of the Registrar of the School of Medicine by the 1st of June, when the grading of applicants is begun. Applications received after the 15th of July will be considered only if there are vacancies in the class. Upon satisfactory completion of the first year in Medicine the student receives the degree from the College for Women.

For entrance to the School of Law no studies other than those required for the arts course are prerequisite.

By consultation with the Dean early in the course, the college work may be arranged to meet the entrance requirements of the professional schools.

ONE YEAR COURSE IN INSTITUTIONAL ECONOMICS

The purpose of this course is to prepare mature women of executive ability for positions of responsibility in residence schools or charitable institutions or in school or industrial lunch rooms. Previous college training is not necessary but is desirable.

Information in regard to this course will be sent upon application to the Head of the Household Administration Department.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

The following statements include all courses offered, whether prescribed or elective. Unless otherwise stated, each course consists of three weekly exercises of one hour each.

In making choice of elective courses students are expected to confer with the Dean and members of the Faculty for advice and assistance. Students must give the Registrar written notice of their choice of electives for the second half-year of 1924-25 on or before January 15, 1925, for the first half-year of 1925-26 on or before May 22, 1925.

ART

PROFESSOR FOWLER (Absent on leave)

1, 2. HISTORY OF ART. Ancient art, ancient life, literature and history. Lectures and collateral reading. Not given in 1924-1925.

3, 4. HISTORY OF ART. Post-classical art; from the beginning of Christian art through the period of the Renaissance. Lectures and collateral reading. Not given in 1924-1925.

ASTRONOMY

PROFESSOR MOUNTCASTLE

1. The course is mainly descriptive and is amply illustrated. The simpler problems of spherical astronomy are discussed. Some attention is given to the history of Astronomy. Second half-year. Omitted 1924-1925.

Mathematical Prerequisites: Algebra and Geometry of the college entrance requirements.

BIBLICAL LITERATURE

PROFESSOR HAYDN (Courses 1-11)
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR LAMBERTON (Courses 13-18)

1a. STUDIES IN THE OLD TESTAMENT. One hour a week, either half-year.*

1b. STUDIES IN THE OLD TESTAMENT. Continuation of 1a. One hour a week, either half-year.*

2. STUDIES IN THE BEGINNINGS OF CHRISTIANITY. One hour a week, either half-year.*

3. THE LIFE AND TEACHINGS OF JESUS. A detailed study of the life and message of Jesus, based on the Synoptic Gospels. First half-year.

4. THE PAULINE EPISTLES. A course in the English Testament aiming to exhibit the circumstances of writing, content, and permanent message of selected epistles. A sequel to course 3. Second half-year.

*These one-hour courses are offered for the benefit of those who desire a general knowledge of the Bible, but cannot give the time for a three-hour course in any one half-year. One hour of credit is given for each one-hour course.

5. The People of the Old Testament. A study of the Hebrew-Jewish people in Old Testament times—their place in the ancient world, the development of their national religious life, their great personalities, their best gift to humanity. Text-book and lectures. First half-year.

6. The Beginnings of the Christian Faith. Its Founder, great leaders and earliest problems. Text-book and lectures. Second half-year.

7. Early Old Testament Poetry. A series of studies in the English Old Testament, taking up Hebrew poetry as exhibited especially in the historical books and in early Psalms. Either half-year.

8. Later Old Testament Poetry. A continuation of 7, taking up chiefly the poetry of later Psalms. Second half-year.

9. The Prophets of the Eighth Century B. C. A course based on the English version, taking up the times, personal characteristics, and messages of Amos, Hosea, Isaiah, and Micah. Either half-year.

10. The Prophets of the Seventh and Sixth Centuries, B. C. A continuation of course 9. Either half-year.

11. The Development of Religious Ideas in the Old Testament. A careful study of selected passages from the Old Testament (English Version), aiming to trace this development from the earliest to the latest sources. First half-year.

13, 14. Hebrew Grammar and Reading. An introductory course, followed by readings from the Old Testament text. Throughout the year.

15. New Testament Greek. Selected reading in the Greek New Testament. The student must have had at least two years of Greek. Either half-year.

16. New Testament Greek. A course for any who have had 15, offering further reading. Either half-year.

17. Early Christian Literature. History and criticism of the literature of the first centuries of Christianity. Lectures, readings from translations, and discussions. First half-year.

18. Christian Archaeology. The reconstruction of the history of the primitive Church according to archæological remains, with discussion of symbolism, origin of art forms, common life, etc. Lectures (illustrated), papers, and discussions. Second half-year.

(see also under religious education)

BIOLOGY

professor herrick (Courses 1, 2, 10, 12, 17)
assistant professor otis (Courses 1, 21-32)
assistant professor visscher (Courses 1, 2, 15, 16)
dr. hersh (Courses 3, 4, 8, 19, 20)
mr. swenson (Course 7)

(No prerequisites are required in Biology 1, 21-22 and 25-26. Biology 1 is recommended, however, to all who wish to become students or teachers in any of the biological sciences; it may be logically followed by Biology 2, 21-22, or by courses 25-26. The following sequence is recommended for students who wish to continue in Zoology for more than one year, or to prepare for medicine: courses 1, 2, 3, 8, 15, 16, which may be accompanied by courses 7 or 10, 12, 17, 19 and 20. Students planning to continue in Botany longer than one year should elect courses in the following sequence: 21, 22, 23, 24, 31 and 32, which may be accompanied by courses 19, 20, 25, 26, 27, 28, or 29.)

1. Biology. An introduction to the study of animals and plants as forces in the living world, devoted to a first-hand study of organisms, and to biological problems that are of most interest to the citizen and the community. Two lectures or recitations and one laboratory exercise of three hours.

2. Zoology of Invertebrates. A comparative study of important types of invertebrate animals. One lecture or recitation and two laboratory exercises of two hours each. Second half-year. Prerequisite, course 1.

3. Zoology of Vertebrates. A comparative study of representative vertebrate animals. One lecture or recitation and two laboratory exercises of two hours each. First half-year. Prerequisite, course 1.

4. Economic Zoology. A study of animals in their varied relations to mankind, whether as friends or enemies, and particularly in their role as dynamic agents of disease, and as factors in the food-supply of the world. Two recitations and one laboratory exercise of three hours. Second half-year.

7. General Physiology. An advanced course in physiology. One lecture and two laboratory exercises of two hours each. First half-year. Prerequisite, a knowledge of the fundamentals of physics and organic chemistry, and a knowledge of elementary physiology.

8. Elements of Vertebrate Embryology. A study of the development of birds and mammals. Two recitations and one laboratory exercise of three hours. Second half-year. Prerequisite, course 3.

10. Life and Instincts of Birds. A special course in the study of animal activity, illustrated with original material, and consisting of lectures, field excursions and first-hand study. The number of students is limited to ten. Second half-year. Prerequisite, course 1.

12. Animal Behavior. A course for the study and discussion of significant works upon the activities and mental powers of animals, dealing particularly with the problems of instinct and intelligence. Three exercises with reports upon the literature. Second half-year. Prerequisite, course 1.

15. Animal Histology. A study of the structure of animal cells, tissues and organs, with training in the methods by which such materials are prepared for microscopic observation. Registration can be made only after consultation with the instructor. Three laboratory exercises with assigned readings and reports. Prerequisite, course 1 and at least one other laboratory course in this department.

16. Animal Histology. A continuation of course 15. Students who have satisfactorily completed course 15 may continue the subject by special arrangement with the instructor.

17. Animal Life and Evolution. A series of illustrated lectures on the phenomena of life in their wider relations dealing mainly with the higher animals and man, and with the problems of variation, heredity, development, and evolution; a consideration of the aims, methods, and results of modern biology. Three lectures or recitations, with designated readings. First half-year. Prerequisite, course 1.

19. Heredity. An introduction to the study of heredity, with emphasis on its importance in plant and animal breeding, and in human affairs. Three lectures or recitations. Prerequisite, course 1.

20. Genetics. A more comprehensive study of heredity and variation, with assigned readings on special topics. Three lectures or recitations. Prerequisite, course 19.

21, 22. General Botany. An introductory study of plants; structure and development from seed germination to fruit formation; simple physiology; distribution and economic uses; crop production; the improvement of plants; ecology. Field work will be undertaken in fall and late spring and an opportunity will be given to learn some of the commoner trees, shrubs and flowers. Two lectures or recitations and one laboratory exercise of three hours. Throughout the year. No prerequisite. Course 22 is also open to students who have successfully completed course 1 or its equivalent.

23. Evolution and Comparative Anatomy of Plants. A survey of the entire Plant Kingdom. The development of the forms will be illustrated by studies of the life histories of the more important types. Two lectures or recitations and one laboratory exercise of three hours. First half-year. Open to students who have completed courses 21 and 22, and to others specially qualified without prerequisite.

24. Plant Physiology. An experimental study of plants as living, responsive structures. One lecture and two laboratory exercises of two hours each. Second half-year. Prerequisite, courses 21 and 22.

25, 26. Local Flora. A study of the flowering plants of Cleveland and vicinity, with practice in the identification of woody plants in both summer and winter conditions and field and herbarium study of the commoner herbaceous plants. Two lectures or recitations and one laboratory exercise of three hours. Throughout the year. No prerequisite.

27, 28. Plant Histology. The structure of plant cells, tissues and organs, with training in the methods of preparing these materials for microscopic observation. Students will make their own mounts, and thus learn the technical processes of fixing, imbedding, sectioning, staining and mounting. Two laboratory exercises of three hours each, with assigned readings and reports. Throughout the year. Prerequisite, courses 21 and 22, election to be made only with the permission of the instructor.

29. Mycology and Plant Pathology. A course dealing with the commoner fleshy forms of fungi and the diseases of important cultivated crops and of forest and shade trees. Two lectures or recitations and one field or laboratory exercise of three hours. First half-year. Prerequisite, course 23.

31, 32. Botanical Problems. Special work may be arranged according to the qualifications of the student. May be taken for three or six hours credit. Elections are to be made only after consultation with the instructor.

The laboratory fee for courses 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 8, 10, 15, 16, 21, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 31 and 32 is $5.00 each.

CHEMISTRY

PROFESSOR GRUENER (Absent on leave)
PROFESSOR TOWER (Courses 3, 4, 7, 8)
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR BOOTH (Courses 9, 10, 12)
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR LANKELMA (Giving instruction in the School of Pharmacy)
MR. COYNE (Courses 1, 2, 15)
MISS CLEAVELAND (Courses 1, 2, 4, 7, 11)
DR. JACKSON (Courses 1, 2, 5, 6, 17)

1. CHEMISTRY OF THE NON-METALLIC ELEMENTS. Two recitations and one laboratory exercise of three hours.

2. CHEMISTRY OF THE METALS. A portion of the time will be devoted to the study of practical applications of inorganic chemistry. Two recitations and one laboratory exercise. Prerequisite, course 1 or 3. Second half-year.

3. INORGANIC CHEMISTRY. A more advanced course in general chemistry for students who present chemistry for admission. Two recitations and one laboratory exercise. First half-year.

4. CHEMISTRY OF THE METALS. An advanced course in the chemistry of the metals, with some qualitative analysis. One recitation and two laboratory exercises. Second half-year.

5, 6. ORGANIC CHEMISTRY. Two recitations and one laboratory exercise. Prerequisite, course 2 or 4. Throughout the year.

7. ELEMENTS OF QUALITATIVE ANALYSIS. Three laboratory exercises. Prerequisite, course 2 or 4. First half-year.

8. PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY. An elementary course treating principally of the theory of solutions and electro-chemistry. Three times a week, with occasional laboratory exercises. Prerequisite, three half-year courses in chemistry. Second half-year.

9, 10. ELEMENTS OF QUANTITATIVE ANALYSIS. Three laboratory exercises. Throughout the year. Prerequisite, course 7. May be elected also for a half-year.

11. FOOD ANALYSIS. Laboratory work with readings and discussions. Prerequisite, course 5.

12. CHEMICAL MICROSCOPY. A general course, involving the use of the microscope and its accessories; microchemical methods as applied to chemical investigation. Three laboratory exercises. Prerequisite, three half-year courses in chemistry.

EDUCATION

PROFESSOR ROBINSON

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR COLLIER

By requirement of the State Department of Education, after September 1923, applicants for the four-year provisional high school certificate must present the following credits in semester hours in this and related departments:

Psychology	3
History of Education	3
Principles of Teaching	3
Special Methods	2
Educational Psychology	2
School Administration and Management	2
Observation and Practice Teaching	3
Additional hours	6
Total	24

The six additional hours mentioned above may be selected from general or educational sociology, educational measurements, principles of education, economics, or ethics, "in so far as the content applies to the teaching profession". Any other courses offered in place of these suggested immediately above must have secured in advance the approval of the State Department.

Students who desire to qualify for the state certificate should note the following requirements:

1. Major and minor fields of study should be selected which prepare directly for the type of teaching position desired.

2. At least fifty per cent of the grades obtained in the major and minor fields should be G or above, and the grades in other courses of satisfactory character.

3. Evidence of physical and personal fitness for the work of teaching will be required. Those with physical defects likely to endanger their chances of success in teaching, with speech defects, weak voices or inadequate command of English, cannot be admitted to the course in Practice Teaching.

4. Course 6 below should be taken in the Sophomore year. On the satisfactory completion of this course application for candidacy for the state certificate should be filed with the head of the Department of Education. Courses 5, 7 and 8 should be taken, if possible, during the same term of the Senior year.

Starred courses are required; other courses elective.

1. Principles of Education. An introductory survey of educational theory, and a study of some of the problems of contemporary American education. Not offered in 1925-1926.

3. Measurement in Education. The results of education and special training as determined by exact measurements, in the light of original individual differences in mental and physical traits. Standard tests and elementary statistics. Not offered in 1925-1926.

15. Textiles. A study of textile fibers and fabrics, including laces. It includes the study of their characteristics and factors which affect their cost and serviceability. Lectures, outside reading and visits to stores, factories and museums. First half-year.

16. Textiles and Clothing. A preliminary course in machine and hand sewing, analysis of patterns and their adaptation to individual figures. It aims also to help students to become intelligent purchasers of staple materials and of ready-made clothing. The course requires the making of undergarments, a wash blouse and a simple costume, including hat as well as dress. It includes also the care and repair of clothing. Lecture and laboratory. Second half-year. Laboratory fee, $3.00.

17, 18. Textiles and Clothing. A course in dressmaking and practical designing of clothing with special attention to line, color and texture. The course requires the making of individual dress forms, practice in the fitting of garments and the construction of two dresses and a hat each half-year. Lectures, laboratory work, outside reading and visits to the Historical Museum and the Cleveland Museum of Art. Each half-year. Laboratory fee, $3.00.

19, 20. Textiles and Clothing. An advanced course in dressmaking, tailoring and practical designing, including the adaptation of historic designs to current modes. The study of color is carried on through the use of dyes. One problem in millinery is required each half-year. Each half-year. Laboratory fee, $3.00 each half-year.

25. Household Management. A study of the processes and expenditures involved in the maintenance of the individual household. The course includes a study of the family budget, the heating, plumbing, lighting and ventilation of the dwelling house, the equipment of the kitchen and laundry, the use of labor-saving devices, and the administration of the household routine. First half-year.

27, 28. Teaching the Household Arts. Their place in modern education, methods of teaching, course of study, and equipment. Observation and practice in the public schools of the city of Cleveland, with regular teaching of classes in social settlements. Throughout the year.

29. Color and Design. Elementary principles of color and design, with special reference to clothing and interior decoration. (Given at the Cleveland School of Art.)

30. House-Planning. Brief description of architectural styles followed by a survey of the development of domestic architecture. Study of plans, with practice and planning simple dwelling houses. Second half-year. Not given in 1924-1925.

31. Field Work. Practical work under supervision in hospitals. Designed for students, preferably seniors, who desire to specialize in hospital work whether from the administrative point of view or that of the specialist in nutrition investigation. Field work in cooperation with the Cuyahoga County Public Health Council will also be accepted.

For Home Nursing See Nursing Education 6.

The following courses are open to Seniors and Juniors and credited toward the Bachelor of Arts degree. They are not credited toward the Bachelor of Science degree.

9. Foods. A brief survey course discussing the relation of food to health, food values, the effect of heat upon food materials and the combination of foods in the family dietary. Lectures, readings and recitations. Prerequisites, Chemistry 1 and Physiology 5. First half-year. (This course is classified in Group B and is credited toward the science requirement.)

26. The Administration of the Household. A course similar to course 25, but discussing the topics less in detail and including the purchase of food supplies and furnishings for the house. Second half-year. Not given in 1924-1925.

There will be discussions of various periods in Roman literature with the study of Roman life and thought and the consideration of the resemblances and differences between Roman and Western life. First half-year.

18. Continuation of Course 17. Second half-year.

19. Latin Literature in English Translations. Lectures and readings. Second half-year.

MATHEMATICS

PROFESSOR PALMIE (Absent on leave)

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR BECKWITH

1. Plane Trigonometry. Dresden, Plane Trigonometry. First half-year.

3. Plane and Spherical Trigonometry. Conant, Plane and Spherical Trigonometry. First half-year.

4. Analytical Geometry. Siceloff-Wentworth-Smith, Analytical Geometry. Second half-year.

6. Differential Calculus. Townsend and Goodenough, Essentials of Calculus. First half-year.

7. Integral Calculus. Townsend and Goodenough, Essentials of Calculus. Second half-year.

9a. Foundations of Geometry and Algebra. Especially designed for students expecting to teach mathematics. Open to Juniors. First half-year.

9b. Continuation of 9a. Second half-year.

10. Differential Calculus (advanced course). Harnack's Introduction to the Calculus.

12. Theory of Functions, of complex variable. Introductory course.

13. The Theory of Equations. Burnside and Panton's Theory of Equations.

14. Projective Geometry. Dowling, Projective Geometry.

15. Theory of Substitution Groups, and its application to algebraic equations.

16. Theory of Numbers. Elementary course.

18. Theory of Differential Equations. Elementary course.

19. Geometry of Four Dimensions. Elementary course. Manning's Geometry of Four Dimensions.

MUSIC

PROFESSOR CLEMENS (Courses 3-8)
MR. POPE (Courses 9, 10)

3, 4. Harmony. Throughout the year.

5, 6. Harmony and Counterpoint. Throughout the year.

7, 8. Harmony and Counterpoint. Throughout the year.

9, 10. The History of Music. No special technical knowledge of music is required. The course includes the rudiments of musical form and theory and is freely illustrated at the piano. It is intended for students who wish to acquire a more intelligent appreciation of classical music. Throughout the year.

5. Ethics. An outline of ethical theory and a discussion of practical problems. First half-year.

6. Ethics, continued. Second half-year.

8. Philosophy and Present-Day Problems. A general introduction to the central problems of philosophy, with special reference to contemporary theories and their practical consequences. Second half-year.

9, 10. History of Philosophy. The ancient philosophers will be studied in the first half-year, and the modern thinkers in the second half-year. Selections from the writings of the various philosophers will be read by the students.

11. Special Course in philosophy or psychology for advanced students. The content of the course may vary from year to year. Second half-year.

12. Logic. Deductive and inductive logic, with special reference to the social sciences. Second half-year. Not given in 1924.

13. Aesthetics. The nature of the beautiful, and of its manifestations in art, literature, music, and the drama. First half-year.

16. Philosophy of Religion. The nature, origin, and content of religion and of religious experience. Second half-year.

17. Educational Psychology. Topics considered are native endowment, the psychology of the learning process and the application of psychology to teaching in general.

21. Experimental Psychology. Readings, discussions, and laboratory work which will serve to introduce the student to typical experimental methods and to the present state of exact knowledge regarding the learning process, practice, fatigue, attention, perception, memory, and the higher thought processes. Each half-year.

26. Business Psychology. Second half-year.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

miss may (Courses 1-5)
mrs. adams (Courses 1-4)
miss warner (Courses 1-4)

1, 2. First Year. Fall Term: Field hockey, basket ball, hy-lo ball, volley ball. Winter Term: Individual work on developing apparatus, free exercises, wands, dumb bells, dancing (folk, athletic and aesthetic) and basket ball. One hour of individual work required and one hour of any two of the above. Lectures in hygiene during the first half-year. Spring Term: Base ball, volley ball, field and track work.

3, 4. Second Year. Fall Term; Field hockey, basket ball, hy-lo ball, volley ball. Winter Term: Individual work, dancing, Indian clubs and basket ball. One hour of individual work required and one hour of any two of the above. Three hours of individual work may be elected. Spring Term: Base ball, volley ball, field and track work.

5. Third and Fourth Years. Advanced work in: aesthetic dancing, Indian clubs, individual and competitive sports. (Open to students who have completed 1, 2, 3 and 4.)

professor mountcastle
assistant professor mc corkle
mr. humphreys
mr. knapp

1. General Physics. Mechanics, heat and sound. Lecture course. Three lectures weekly. First half-year.

2. General Physics. Electricity, magnetism and light. Lecture course. Continuation of course 1. Three lectures weekly. Second half-year. Courses 1 and 2 are prerequisite to all other courses except that 3 and 4 may be taken with 1 and 2 respectively.

3. General Physics. Mechanics, heat and sound. Laboratory course. Two two-hour laboratory periods and one lecture hour weekly. First half-year.

4. General Physics. Electricity, magnetism and light. Laboratory course. Two two-hour laboratory periods and one lecture hour weekly. Second half-year.

5. Mechanics. Introduction to analytical mechanics. Lecture course. Three lectures or recitations weekly. First half-year.

6. Theory of Heat. An introduction to the general theory. Lecture course. Given mainly by lectures with references. Three hours weekly. Second half-year.

7. Physical Optics. General theory. Lecture course, with references. Three hours weekly. First half-year.

8. Sound. General theory. Lectures and recitations. Three hours weekly. Second half-year.

9. Electricity and Magnetism. An introduction to the mathematical theory. Considerable attention is paid to the theory of measurements. Lecture course. Three hours weekly. First half-year.

10. Electricity and Magnetism. Lecture course. Continuation of course 9. Three hours weekly. Second half-year.

11. Mechanics and Heat. Each student spends six hours a week in the laboratory and makes a complete report on the theory of each experiment assigned to her. Laboratory course. Six hours weekly. First half-year. Prerequisite, courses 1, 2, 3 and 4.

12. Advanced Laboratory. Special topics are assigned for detailed study, chiefly in light and electricity. The aim of the course is to introduce more advanced experimental methods than are usually possible in the elementary courses. Intended primarily for those who intend to specialize in Physics. Laboratory course. Nine hours weekly. Second half-year. Prerequisite, courses 1, 2, 3, 4 and 11.

MATHEMATICAL PREREQUISITES TO THE VARIOUS COURSES.

For courses 1, 2, 3 and 4 a knowledge of algebra through quadratics and the binomial theorem and of plane geometry. This constitutes the college entrance requirement in mathematics and is sufficient, but whenever possible, students will find it advantageous to take plane trigonometry and analytical geometry along with courses 1 and 2.

For courses 7, 8 and 11 a knowledge of plane trigonometry and analytical geometry.

For courses 5, 6, 9, 10, 12 and 13 a knowledge of differential and integral calculus.

FEES.

In order to help defray the initial cost and maintenance of the apparatus used it is necessary to charge fees in some of the courses, as follows:

Courses 1 and 2, $2.00 each.

Courses 3, 4, 11 and 12, $5.00 each.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Students planning to make Physics the major subject will find it advantageous to begin the study of Physics and Mathematics in the Freshman year.

Students generally will find it easier to take courses 1 and 2 one year and courses 3 and 4 the following year.

PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE

POLITICAL SCIENCE

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR MAXEY (Courses 1, 3, 4, 9)

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR SHOUP (Courses 2, 6, 7, 8, 9)

DR. HILL (Courses 10-13)

Courses 1 and 2, or other preparation satisfactory to the head of the department, are prerequisite for all of the other courses offered by the department.

1. NATIONAL GOVERNMENT IN THE UNITED STATES. A systematic study of the organization and processes of our national government. Emphasis is placed upon the striking tendencies in the evolution of the national government, and upon necessary constructive reforms.

2. STATE AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT IN THE UNITED STATES. A study of American state government in its relation to the national government and in its independent sphere of operation. County and city government are considered as phases of state government. The course is critical rather than descriptive.

3. MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT. The city as a problem in government. The nature of the municipal problem; the relation of the city to the state; municipal powers and responsibilities; the structure of city governments; municipal politics.

4. MUNICIPAL ADMINISTRATION. A continuation of course 3, dealing with the organization and general principles of municipal administration, and with the methods employed and problems involved in the work of various municipal departments, particularly of finance, police, public works, and public utilities.

6. AMERICAN CONSTITUTIONAL LAW. The fundamentals of American constitutional law with some consideration of its present relation to political, economic, and social problems.

7. POLITICAL PARTIES AND PARTY GOVERNMENT. A study of the fundamental principles underlying party organization and functions in modern governments with special reference to the United States. The general problem of the relation of public opinion to government: new schemes for facilitating popular control; the significance of special interests in their relation to the two party system; the composition of the two leading parties; the reconciliation of party government with the federal system of government, are considered.

8. A Survey of Political Thought. A course intended to place the student in touch with the leading political thought from Aristotle to the present time. The dominant political ideas of the present time, European and American, with respect to government and politics will be given especial attention.

9, 10. Seminar. A research course designed to afford advanced students an opportunity for critical and exhaustive study of selected problems. Election subject to the consent of the instructor.

11. International Law. A course devoted to the consideration of the legal rules and practices observed by the leading nations in their dealings and relations at peace and at war.

12. International Politics. A survey of the relations of the leading powers of the world in the various theaters of conflicting national interest, as the Far East, the Near East, Africa, Europe and Latin America. The development and tendencies of imperialism are given particular attention, as well as the subject of international conciliation and cooperation.

13. Comparative Government. A comparative study of the governments of the more important countries of the world, with particular reference to the development and functioning of democratic institutions.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

PROFESSOR MC WILLIAMS

1, 2. The New Testament in the Light of Today. Significance of the newer estimate of the New Testament for contemporary social ideals and personal faith. Necessity of a knowledge of the New Testament for appreciation of much in art, literature and music. The books of the New Testament are studied in the light of textual and literary criticism, archeology, history, the sciences. Origin, spirit and aims of the New Testament writings, their historical environments and organic place in the intellectual and religious process. Where, when and how these books came to be regarded as sacred literature. The question of miracles. The social teachings of Jesus. The course is intended to help the student in the adjustment of religious views to the larger knowledge to which the University introduces one.

3, 4. The World's Great Religions. Hinduism, Jainism, Zoroastianism, Brahmanism, Buddhism, Confucianism, Taoism, Shintoism, the Religions of Ancient Egypt, the Religions of Greece and Rome, Judaism, Greek and Roman Catholicism, Mohammedanism, Protestantism, Reformed Judaism. Individual characteristics of each religion and its contribution to the history of the human spirit. Unity in diversity, "Religions are many, religion is one." Religion must be regarded as one of the most important and fascinating subjects for human investigation. Such a course should result not only in clarification of one's own view but in a broader tolerance in a time when mutual understanding and respect for those arriving at different conclusions are so essential to world fellowship.

NURSING EDUCATION

MISS CREECH

6. Home Nursing. This course deals with the prevention and care of illness in the home. It discusses such topics as proper surroundings for the sick, the early recognition of the common symptoms of disease, food for the sick, prevention and care of common ailments, care of sick children and the aged. Prerequisite, Physiology 5 and 6. Either half-year.

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR COLLETT
MISS KECK
MISS BRADWAY

5, 6. Human Physiology and Hygiene. The object of the course is to present normal human physiology in clear and simple terms, and upon this basis to build a reasonable conception of hygiene. Two class hours and one laboratory exercise of two hours. Laboratory fee, $2.00 each half-year. Throughout the year.

PUBLIC HEALTH

MISS NEWMAN AND LECTURERS

5. Community Health Problems. This course deals with the essentials of public hygiene, including such topics as the control of food, milk, and water supplies, sewage and garbage disposal, control of communicable diseases, and some of the modern health movements such as industrial hygiene, anti-tuberculosis work, child welfare work, etc. Two class hours every week and an excursion every second week. Second half-year.

GENERAL INFORMATION

GENERAL REGULATIONS

The first half-year begins on the Tuesday after the sixteenth day of September, and continues, with a Thanksgiving recess of three days and a Christmas recess of two weeks, until the first Saturday in February. The second half-year begins on the Monday after the first Saturday in February, and continues, with a Spring recess of one week, until Commencement, which occurs on the Wednesday after the tenth of June (or after the ninth in years in which February has twenty-nine days). No college exercises are held on Washington's birthday and Memorial day. The exercises of the first half-year begin with prayers in the chapel at ten o'clock. Entering students are expected to matriculate during the four days preceding the opening of college. The halls of residence will be open to receive students Sunday evening before the opening of college.

Requests for Catalogues or general information should be addressed to the Registrar of the College for Women. Letters respecting the admission or dismissal of students should be addressed to the Dean of the College for Women.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

The principles and influence of the College are distinctly Christian, but the College has no formal connection with any particular denomination. A short service of worship is held in the chapel at a quarter past nine o'clock, on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings, compulsory for the whole College. The Tuesday service is conducted by the President, while those of Thursday and Friday are largely of a musical content. It is desired that so far as possible each student should enter into the life of some city church. The students carry on a Young Women's Christian Association, the aims of which are to maintain in the College a healthy, progressive Christian spirit and to keep the students in touch with the religous and charitable work of the world.

SCHOLARSHIP

Students are graded in their studies by letters which have value as follows: (E (excellent), G (good), F (fair), P (pass), D (deficient, X (deficient without the privilege of re-examination).

Examinations, three hours in length, are given in each department, at the end of each half-year.

A student who receives a grade of D will be given an opportunity to take a re-examination within six weeks after the beginning of the next half-year, on dates named by the Registrar. A student who fails to take the re-examination at the appointed time may take it during the next regular examination period. If not successful then, the course is to be repeated.

In general, the grade P in any course may be considered as the pass mark only when the average grade of the student for the term or year is above P.

A student who drops a course without written permission from the Dean shall receive X for the course.

In order to receive credit for a course marked "Incomplete" at the close of the first half-year, the work of the course must be completed before the next September. In order to receive credit for a course marked "Incomplete" at the close of the second half-year, the work of the course must be completed before the next February.

Excessive absence from a course will reduce the grade in that course.

All entrance conditions are to be removed before a student is allowed to begin the work of Sophomore year.

A student who fails in the work of an elective course is to remove this deficiency, or complete another course as extra work.

All conditions incurred at examinations are to be removed as soon as possible by special examination. All conditions incurred and all work omitted in Freshman year are to be made up before a student is allowed to begin the work of Junior year. All conditions incurred and all work omitted in Sophomore year are to be made up before a student is allowed to begin the work of Senior year. All other conditions, and all other omitted work, are to be made up before a student is allowed to begin the work of the second term of Senior year. No student will be ranked as a member of any given class who is more than two courses in arrears.

No student will be recommended for a degree unless she has completed at least thirty of the forty three-hour courses required for graduation with a grade of F or better.

LIBRARIES

The Library now contains more than twenty-three thousand volumes which have been carefully selected to meet the needs of the students. A considerable number of general and special encyclopedias, an increasing number of biographies, and a large number of books used constantly by the students in preparing required work, together with many periodicals, make an attractive collection for study and for recreation.

A special library in Biblical literature is placed in the Florence Harkness Memorial. This collection is being constantly enlarged by means of funds from the Florence Harkness Foundation.

The Library of Adelbert College is open on equal terms to all members of the University. It is furnished with well-lighted reading rooms, contains over one hundred eighteen thousand bound volumes, and thirty thousand unbound books and pamphlets, and is especially rich in German, French, historical, and philosophical literature. The list of periodicals is very large, and there are many sets of valuable publications in classical philology and archæology, Germanic and general philology, history, anthropology, and science, as well as of the oldest and best literary magazines. Students have access to all books on the shelves.

Students may use freely the principal libraries of Cleveland.

The Cleveland Public Library contains between eight hundred and nine hundred thousand volumes, and includes valuable collections for the study of Shakespeare, modern literature, history, art, and archæology. The librarian of the college is authorized to issue to any out-of-town student a card which enables her to draw books from the main library or any of its branches.

Through the courtesy of its directors, students may also obtain free tickets to the Case Library. This collection, containing more than one hundred ten thousand volumes, is well supplied with periodicals and general literature, and offers excellent facilities for study of the fine arts, of economics and sociology, of American history and of the sciences, especially chemistry and botany.

LABORATORIES AND MUSEUMS

Biology. The biological laboratory is especially designed for the study of living things and is fully equipped for instruction in zoology and botany. It contains vivaria, teaching collections of animals and plants, a large reference library, including the Kirtland collection, the best appliances for heating, ventilation, and illumination, a complete laboratory for photography in all its branches, together with the most approved facilities for optical projection.

Chemistry. The chemical laboratory is a three-story building of recent construction. The building contains a lecture room, two recitation rooms, five large laboratories, seven small laboratories, and several other rooms for offices, store rooms, and lavatories. The laboratories are equipped with every convenience for chemical work. Each student has a desk with drawer and locker, and every facility is provided for experimental work, not only in general chemistry, but also in organic, analytical, physiological, and physical chemistry.

Geology and Mineralogy. One-half of the third floor of the chemical laboratory is used by the department of Geology. The collections at the service of the department are well chosen, and are rapidly growing. They comprise sets of crystal models and crystals, crystal sections for optical study, and rock sections in great number, besides mineralogical, lithological, and palæontological collections. The library is good and constantly being increased. The vicinity of Cleveland is interesting geologically, especially in regard to glacial deposits and its palæontology. It furnishes abundance of material for special investigation.

Household Administration. The laboratories of the department are at 2041 Adelbert Road, near Euclid Avenue. The rooms are spacious, have abundant light and air, and are fully equipped for individual work. In the foods laboratory it has been the aim to approximate as nearly as possible the equipment and conditions found in a well ordered home. Meals served in the dining room to guests are prepared in a family kitchen.

Laboratory work in institutional or lunchroom management is carried on in the two cafeterias conducted by the department upon the campus.

No uniform is required in laboratory classes, but each student is expected to provide herself with at least two white aprons of firm material and large enough to cover the skirt and front of waist.

Physics and Astronomy. The physical laboratory is a three-story building of sound and substantial construction, containing large lecture and laboratory rooms for the elementary courses, and a considerable number of smaller rooms for more advanced work. Special attention has been paid to heating, lighting, and ventilation. The department is equipped with a large variety of apparatus bearing on the courses at present offered, and new apparatus is being continually added.

Upon the physical laboratory has been erected an equatorial telescope, covered by a revolving dome. The telescope, of ten and one-half inches aperture and fifteen feet focal length, is equipped with all the necessary accessories for observation and measurement.

Cleveland Museum of Art. By courtesy of the Directors of the Cleveland Museum of Art, the students of the College for Women are granted tickets for free admission to the Museum. Students may apply for the privilege at the office of the Registrar of the College.

GYMNASIUM

At the beginning of the college year each student is examined by her own physician according to the prescribed form. Blanks filled out should be returned to the department before September 10. In addition to the medical examination mentioned above, new students are examined by the Director of Physical Education according to the system of measurements recommended by the American Association for the Advancement of Physical Education. Information concerning habits, general health, previous environment, and hereditary tendencies is desired. From these data and measurements exercise is prescribed or prohibited by the Director. Special exercises are prescribed for students requiring individual corrective work. Students enrolled in the department are expected to provide themselves with a regulation suit: white middy blouse and black tie, black serge bloomers, sweater, rubber-soled shoes and ballet slippers. Exercise is required three hours a week for Freshmen, Sophomores and special students, from the opening of college to the end of the year.

HAYDN HALL

Haydn Hall, the gift of Mrs. Samuel Mather, was erected in 1902 for study and social purposes. It provides a study room for students, rooms for alumnae and class organizations, for the Young Women's Christian Association, for literary and musical clubs and for other student activities.

Luncheon, under the immediate supervision of the Household Administration Department, is served in Haydn Hall daily except Saturdays for the convenience of students who live at a distance. Well prepared food is served at moderate cost, and the luncheon hour affords students daily opportunities for better acquaintance with one another.

HALLS OF RESIDENCE

The two halls of residence, Guilford House and Flora Mather House, together accommodate one hundred students. The former is divided for the most part into single bed-rooms; the latter also has single rooms, as well as a few of especially large size designed for two students. These rooms are fully furnished. Both houses are well heated, lighted, and ventilated, and have excellent and well served tables. The aim of the housekeeping is to make the students' surroundings as homelike as possible.

Linen for beds and tables is provided, but each student supplies her own towels and extra bedding.

Those in charge of the management of these houses are governed by the desire to give each student such supervision as college women absent from home should receive, and yet to subject no one to unnecessary or annoying restraint. For that reason the conduct of the students in the halls of residence is largely under the supervision of the Self-Government Association.

The price of board and room is $450.00 for the year, to be paid in advance in two installments: three-fifths at the opening of college in September, and two-fifths at the beginning of the second half-year in February. In addition each student is required to pay a laundry fee of fifty cents a month for bed and table linen.

It is requested that separate payments be made for tuition and for living expenses.

At the time of making application for rooms, all students are required to make a deposit of $10.00 which will be forfeited if the application is withdrawn.

It is understood that rooms are engaged for the entire year, unless by special permission other arrangements are made. Claims for reduction arising from necessary withdrawals are to be adjusted with the Treasurer, and the date of withdrawal is to be reckoned from the day on which the Dean is informed of the fact by the parent or guardian.

For students remaining in residence during the Christmas or Spring recess an extra charge is made.

All correspondence regarding rooms should be addressed to the Dean.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

The students of the College for Women publish a journal called The Sun Dial. This periodical gives them an opportunity not merely to record or comment upon the events of college life and alumnae activities, but also to give expression to their literary interests. The College Annual, Varia Historia, is published by the Junior Class, as a part of the University Annual.

The student organizations include a Young Women's Christian Association, a Glee Club, a Dramatic Association, an Athletic Association, an Outing Club, and several literary and scientific societies. Eligibility for office in student organizations requires satisfactory grades.

The conduct of the student body as a whole is largely entrusted to the Student's Association.

HONORS

Class honors are awarded at the end of each academic year as follows:

First honors to all students who have received in the year five or more E grades above an average of G.

Second honors to all students who have received in the year three or four E grades above an average of G.

Third honors to all students who have received in the year two E grades above an average of G.

Students who at the end of the junior year have received fifteen E grades above an average of G and who have met the special requirements of the curriculum for three years are given the privilege, after conference with an adviser, of pursuing special work free from the usual requirements.

Two honor prizes of one hundred dollars each are awarded to the two members of the senior class who at the end of the first half of the senior year have attained the highest grades during their course.

Degrees with honor are awarded as follows:

Summa cum laude to students who, during their course, have attained twenty-three E grades above an average of G.

Magna cum laude to students who have attained fifteen E grades above an average of G.

Cum laude to students who have attained eleven E grades above an average of G.

In the case of students pursuing technical courses these rules are subject to certain modifications.

PRIZES

The President's Prizes. A first prize of fifteen dollars and a second prize of ten dollars are offered for the best results in the work of the Physical Education department during the Freshman year.

The Holden Prize. Mr. L. E. Holden, of Cleveland, established a fund, from the income of which a prize of fifty dollars is awarded for the best essay written by a Senior or Junior on some subject selected by the department of English. The subject for the present academic year is any one of the following:

1. Chaucer and William Morris as Writers of Tales in Verse.
2. The Short Story in the Hands of Poe and Kipling.
3. Mrs. Meynell and her Circle.
4. Pepys's Diary as a Picture of the Author and his Times.
5. The Poetry of Robert Bridges as Representative of the Orthodox Tradition in English Verse.
6. Why Have Recent Attempts at Reviving Interest in the English Poetic Drama Been Unsuccessful?
7. What are the Outstanding Differences in the Art of Novel-Writing as practiced by Jane Austen and Thackeray on the One Hand, and by George Meredith and Henry James on the Other?

Essays in competition for this prize must be submitted not later than May 21 of each year. The essays should be signed with a pseudonym, and the name of the writer enclosed in a sealed envelope.

The Emily M. Hills Prize. In 1918 Miss Emily M. Hills left a legacy of five hundred dollars to the College for Women, the annual income of which shall be used as an annual prize for the best poem or essay written by a student of the College for Women. The department of English, under the direction of which the prize will be awarded, prefers to have the contest confined to poetry, since the Holden Prize is always given for the best essay. The Emily M. Hills Prize will be open to all regular students of the College without respect to any particular class. Contestants must hand their poems, unsigned, to the head of the department of English not later than May 21 of each year; but the name of each contestant, in a sealed envelope, should accompany her poem.

The Kate Miller Leggett Prize. In 1923 Miss Blanche C. Leggett established, in memory of her mother, an annual prize of twenty-five dollars to be awarded to a College for Women student, preferably a senior, for conspicuous ability in history, the recipient to be determined by the Department of History.

THE ALUMNAE HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION PRIZE. In 1922 the Alumnae Historical Association established an annual prize of twenty-five dollars to be awarded to the student of the College for Women who presents the best historical essay.

DEGREES

The degree of BACHELOR OF ARTS, BACHELOR OF SCIENCE, or BACHELOR OF EDUCATION is conferred on students who have completed the amount of work outlined on pages 48-50 and 89.

Any student desiring to take the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science must fulfill the requirements for both degrees. Ordinarily the work for the two degrees will require at least five years.

PUBLICATION FUND

The income of the Francis G. Butler Publication Fund is devoted to the publication of original researches in the field of American history by professors or students of this College as well as of Adelbert College and the Graduate School.

INSTRUCTION FOR GRADUATES

The University offers to graduates of this college and other colleges the opportunity to pursue courses of study leading to the degree of Master of Arts. For further information consult the Dean.

COOPERATION WITH THE CLEVELAND SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

In 1920 two new degrees were established, BACHELOR OF EDUCATION and MASTER OF ARTS IN EDUCATION.

The degree of BACHELOR OF EDUCATION is to be awarded to candidates who have completed all requirements in a four year course offered by the University in co-operation with the Cleveland School of Education. The University will accept the work of the Cleveland School of Education, or similar institutions of recognized standing, for credit toward this degree to the extent of not more than three years' work, or approximately ninety-six of the one hundred twenty-six hours. The remaining thirty hours will be done in the University, either in extension courses for teachers, in summer courses, or in the regular sessions of the Undergraduate Colleges.

The degree of MASTER OF ARTS IN EDUCATION will be awarded to holders of a recognized Bachelor's degree who have completed graduate courses amounting to a full year's work of twenty-six hours, fourteen of which is to be done in residence at the University.

Full details covering the requirements for these degrees may be secured from the Registrar, School of Education, Stearns Road and East 109th Street.

THE SCHOOL OF APPLIED SOCIAL SCIENCES

This school offers to those who desire to enter social and civic work the advantages of specialized graduate study combined with practical professional training. Field work receives credit in the same way that laboratory work does in the older sciences. The city of Cleveland furnishes exceptional opportunities for gaining practical experience under the most favorable conditions.

Students in the College for Women who select the social sciences as their field of concentration may be able, if they properly plan their work, to complete the requirements for the Master's Degree in one year. For further information consult the appropriate section of the University catalogue or the Dean of the School of Applied Social Sciences, Professor J. E. Cutler.

THE SCHOOL OF LIBRARY SCIENCE

A school for the training of librarians has been established in the University by Mr. Andrew Carnegie. This school is co-ordinate with the other professional schools of the University. The course in combination with the College for Women is outlined under the requirements for graduation, and further information may be obtained from the catalogue or from Miss Alice S. Tyler, the Director of the School of Library Science.

THE SCHOOL OF NURSING

The School of Nursing offers a five-year course in Nursing which combines the advantages of college preparation with general and special professional training, leading to a Bachelor of Science degree and a Diploma in Nursing.

The greater part of the student's work during the first two years is taken in the College for Women. The third and fourth years are devoted to professional training in the University Group Hospitals. The work of the fifth year is largely elective, the student electing some branch of nursing work in which she is especially interested.

Certain courses given in the School of Nursing, such as Home Nursing, Physiology and Hygiene, Microbiology, and Public Health, are open to students in the College for Women.

College graduates wishing to enter the School of Nursing are given credit toward the Diploma in Nursing for any required courses which they have satisfactorily completed during their college course.

Further information may be obtained from the catalogue, or from the Dean, Miss Louise M. Powell.

EXPENSES

Matriculation fee (payable at first registration and will not be refunded)	$ 5.00
Tuition for the year (one-half payable during registration each half-year. No portion will be refunded after 10 days)	200.00
Graduation fee (payable at last registration)	10.00
Annual Budget for Student Activities (will not be refunded)	7.50

In laboratory courses fees are charged to meet the cost of the perishable material. The amount in each case is indicated with the description of the course.

A fee of $1.50 is charged for a re-examination and fifty cents for a special test.

LOAN—SCHOLARSHIPS

Certain annual loan-scholarships are awarded to students of promise. Conference with the Dean either in person or by letter is invited. Scholarships are granted annually upon application, but may be withdrawn for cause at the end of one half-year.

The Alumnae Association has also established a Fund which can be used for similar purposes. Students receiving these benefits are expected to maintain their standing in scholarship and to finish their course here. If dismissal to another college is sought, the College dues, including the amounts given or lent, must first be paid.

The opportunities offered by the College for the higher education of young women of limited means are presented to the attention of those who desire to promote such work by the establishment of scholarships for worthy students.

THE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

HISTORICAL STATEMENT

IN order to provide more adequate means for the separate higher education of young women, the Trustees of Western Reserve University established the College for Women in 1888. The first session began in September of the same year. For the first three years of its existence the college depended largely for its courses of instruction upon members of the faculty of Adelbert College. At the end of that period it acquired a separate corps of instructors, and since that time each of the two colleges, the one for women and the other for men, has had a faculty of its own. By the exchange of work and other arrangements, instruction in several departments is given in each college by members of the faculty of the other. Graduates of the College for Women receive their degrees from the University, and the system is thus not one of co-education, nor of complete separation in education, but of coördination.

In 1892 the college came to occupy its present site on Bellflower Road, in the most attractive and healthful part of the city, a few steps from Euclid avenue on the one side and from Wade Park and the great system of parks and boulevards on the other. In 1898 and again in 1903 the college grounds were enlarged, so that they now contain about six acres. Clark Hall, named from its donor, Mrs. Eliza Clark, was erected in 1892. It contains the library, together with recitation and study rooms. A home for students, called Guilford House, the gift of Mrs. Samuel Mather, was built in 1892 and greatly enlarged in 1894. In 1902 the same donor built Haydn Hall, which provides accommodations for study and social purposes. The Florence Harkness Memorial, in addition to providing a chapel and auditorium, contains also a recitation room and library for the Bible classes. In 1904 was erected the Mary Chisholm Painter memorial gateway. A new gymnasium was completed in 1907. A building in memory of Mrs. Samuel Mather for recitation, lecture, and administrative purposes was finished in 1913. A building also in her memory, for dormitory purposes, was erected by graduates and friends in 1913-14.

The laboratories for Biology, Chemistry, Geology, and Physics are situated on the campus of Adelbert College and are used in common with the students of that college. The Adelbert College Library and the Astronomical Observatory are also used in common.

The laboratory for the Household Administration department is situated at 2041 Adelbert Road.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

ADMISSION TO THE FRESHMAN CLASS

In addition to certificates showing in detail their previous preparation, all candidates for admission must present satisfactory testimonials of character.

Fifteen units* from recognized preparatory and high schools of the first grade are required for admission to the Freshman class.

Blank certificates will be furnished upon application. Certificates should be sent by the principal directly to the Registrar, during commencement week or as soon thereafter as possible.

No final grade below 80 per cent. in any subject will be accepted for college entrance. A student must also rank in the upper third of her graduating class from the preparatory school.

For further information regarding admission, application should be made to the Registrar.

SUBJECTS REQUIRED FOR ENTRANCE OF CANDIDATES FOR THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF ARTS

9½ units required as follows:

- 3 units in English
- 4 units in one foreign language
  or
  2 units in each of two foreign languages
- 1½ units in Algebra
- 1 unit in Plane Geometry

5½ units optional as follows:

- Selected from the above mentioned subjects or from History, Civics, the Sciences or Applied Arts (2 units are credited for three years of Applied Arts or 1 unit for two years).

SUBJECTS REQUIRED FOR ENTRANCE OF CANDIDATES FOR THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF SCIENCE (HOUSEHOLD ADMINISTRATION)

Students who meet the requirements stated above may enter the Household Administration course. Although History is in the optional group, it is recommended that as many students as possible present two units in that subject.

* A unit represents a subject pursued five periods a week for one year.

Instead of the subjects stated above, candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Science may present the following:

9 units required as follows:

- 3 units in English
- 2 units in one foreign language
- 1 unit in Algebra
- 1 unit in Plane Geometry
- 2 units in History or Physics or Chemistry.

6 units optional as follows:

Selected from the above mentioned subjects or from the Sciences, Domestic Science or Applied Arts (2 units are credited for three years of Applied Arts or 1 unit for two years).

SUBJECTS REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION

An outline of subjects required for admission follows:

English. A—The books prescribed for reading and practice for students entering in 1926 and 1927 are: (Two selections from each group, except that for any book in Group V a book from any other may be substituted.)

Group 1. Cooper's The Last of the Mohicans; Dickens' A Tale of Two Cities; George Eliot's Silas Marner; Scott's Quentin Durward; Stevenson's Treasure Island or Kidnapped; Hawthorne's The House of the Seven Gables.

LATIN: The essentials of the grammar, including a thorough knowledge of the forms and constructions. Roman pronunciation. Cæsar—three books of the Gallic War, or two books of the Civil War. Cicero—six orations, including De Imperio Cn. Pompeii. Virgil—six books of the Æneid or the amounts of Virgil and Ovid prescribed by the College Entrance Examination Board. The translation at sight of passages from prose authors. Prose Composition—rendering of simple English sentences into Latin. History of Rome. It is expected that the student will be familiar with the elements of the History of Rome—see requirements in History.

MATHEMATICS: Arithmetic, including the metric system of weights and measures. Algebra (Milne's or Taylor's Academic, or Wentworth's College), including Arithmetical and Geometric Progression and the Binomial Theorem. Plane Geometry (Beman and Smith, Milne, or Wells).

NOTE: It is very important that students review a portion at least of both Algebra and Geometry in their last preparatory year.

In addition to the above, each candidate must offer five and one-half units of preparation for the degree of Bachelor of Arts and six units for the degree of Bachelor of Science (Household Administration) selected from the following:

GREEK: Grammar: Xenophon—four books of the Anabasis (or an equivalent). The foregoing represents the minimum requirements of two units. Homer—three books of the Iliad with prosody. The translation at sight of easy passages in Attic prose. Prose Composition—the rendering into Greek of simple English sentences. The student is expected to be familiar with the elements of the History of Greece—see requirements in History.

FRENCH—FIRST UNIT: The rudiments of the Grammar, including thorough knowledge of forms, and the simpler syntax. The reading of not less than two hundred pages of graded modern prose. Ability to pronounce, and to answer simple questions in French.

SECOND UNIT: A review of the Grammar, with special emphasis on the syntax. Writing of French; practice in conversation. The reading, in addition to that indicated above, of not less than three hundred pages of modern prose chosen from standard fiction, plays and history.

THIRD UNIT: Continued study of Grammar. Advanced practice in speaking and writing French. Reading, in addition to amounts prescribed in units one and two, of about five hundred pages of more difficult texts.

GERMAN—FIRST UNIT: Elementary Grammar, including a thorough knowledge of forms and the simpler syntax; reading of about one hundred and fifty pages of easy modern German prose (a little poetry may be included); ability to answer in German simple questions about the texts read.

SECOND UNIT: Further study of the grammar, particularly of the syntax; writing German; practice in conversation; reading, in addition to the amount indicated above, of about two hundred and fifty pages of modern stories and plays from standard authors (a little poetry may be included).

THIRD UNIT: Continued study of the Grammar, practice in writing and speaking German; reading, in addition to the amount prescribed above, of about four hundred pages of classical and modern prose and poetry.

MATHEMATICS: Solid geometry, including spherical (Beman and Smith, Milne, Wells, or Phillips and Fisher).

CHEMISTRY: McPherson and Henderson's Chemistry or an equivalent.

PHYSICS: Any standard text-book. Class-work through one year. Each student must perform in the laboratory thirty-five or forty experiments, mainly quantitative, such as are given in the best laboratory manuals.

HISTORY: American History and Civil Government; Modern European History, or a survey course on European History; Ancient History; English History. These courses are suggested in the order of preference.

BOTANY: A course in Elementary Botany.

ZOOLOGY: A course in Elementary Zoology.

BIOLOGY: A course in Elementary or General Biology, which deals with the structure and habits of typical animals and plants. All biological courses must include laboratory work in the direct study of living things.

METHODS OF ADMISSION

Admission to the Freshman class may be gained in one of two ways, either by examination, or by the presentation of a certificate from an approved High School or Academy. Each of these methods is outlined below.

ADMISSION BY EXAMINATION

In June, 1926, the entrance examinations of the College will be those of the College Entrance Examination Board (of which the College is a member).

Application for the privilege of taking them must be made upon a blank form to be obtained from the Secretary of the Board, 431 West 117th Street, New York City, on or before May 31, 1926. The Secretary will furnish all necessary information regarding the place and time of examinations. A fee of ten dollars must be paid to the Secretary by every candidate taking these examinations.

A list of the places at which examinations are to be held by the Board in June, 1926, will be published about March 1. Requests that they be held at particular points, to receive proper consideration, should be transmitted to the Secretary of the Board not later than February 1.

ADMISSION BY CERTIFICATE

Students from recognized preparatory and high schools of the first grade are admitted to the Freshman class without examination, on the presentation of certificates showing that they have completed the requisite amount of preparatory study, as outlined on page 43. Blank forms of such certificates will be furnished on application to the Registrar. Applicants for admission are requested to present their certificates or send them by mail to the Registrar during Commencement week or soon thereafter. The number of students that can be accepted is limited by the ability of the College to make suitable provision for them. Early application is therefore advisable.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

Candidates for admission to the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes will be given credit for satisfactory work certified to by approved colleges previously attended. Satisfactory work is interpreted as meaning an average grade of "Fair" and at least three quarters of the work of a grade of "Fair" or better. A letter of honorable dismissal is required.

No student may receive a degree unless she has been in residence at the College for Women at least one year.

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

FOR THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF ARTS

Forty-two courses,* under the following conditions, are required for graduation. Each student must elect at least one laboratory course.

FRESHMAN YEAR

Each student in the Freshman year elects five three-hour courses. In each of the three groups listed below each student in the first year elects at least one course. Courses other than these are not open to Freshmen.

GROUP A LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE	GROUP B MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE	GROUP C HISTORY, PHILOSOPHY AND SOCIAL SCIENCE
English 1 and 2	Biology 1 and 2,	History 1 and 2
Latin 1 and 2	21 and 22	Biblical Literature 5 and 6
French, German, Greek, Italian, Spanish — Specific course open dependent upon preparation in that subject.	25 and 26
	Chemistry 1 and 2
	or
	Chemistry 3 and 4
	Mathematics 1 or 3 and 4
	Physics 1 and 2
	3 and 4
	Physiology 5 and 6

Physical Education is required of Freshmen three times a week throughout the year.

The work of the Sophomore, Junior and Senior years is elective under the following conditions:

If the work of the first year does not include Greek or Latin, two courses in ancient history, in ancient art or in Greek and Roman Literature will be required before graduation.

Physical Education is required of Sophomores three times a week throughout the year.

Students are held responsible for observing the requirements for the degree and the proper sequence of courses.

Five three-hour courses (15 semester hours) are required each half-year.

Major-Minor Requirements

Each student shall choose, not later than the close of the Sophomore year, a chief field of work in a department. The head of the department shall act as her adviser in arranging the order in which the studies of the department shall be pursued. In individual cases the adviser may designate courses in related departments, not exceeding two in number, which he will accept as a part of the chief field of work. In this field eight courses including courses already taken in Freshman and Sophomore years, must be completed before graduation.

*A course is reckoned as three hours a week throughout a half-year. Since the work in Physical Education demands no outside preparation, three hours a week of that work constitute only half a course.

Each student shall also choose a secondary field of work in which she shall complete six courses. The secondary field shall be in a department of the same group,† unless special reasons exist for the choice of studies in a department of another group. With the consent of the head of the department, two courses in a related department may be accepted as a part of the requirement.

Group Requirements

The academic courses of instruction are divided into the three following groups:

GROUP A LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE	GROUP B MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE	GROUP C HISTORY, PHILOSOPHY AND SOCIAL SCIENCE
English	Astronomy	Art
French	Biology	Biblical Literature
German	Chemistry	Economics
Greek	Geology	Education
Italian	Mathematics	History
Latin	Physics	Music
Spanish	Physiology	Philosophy
		Political Science
		Religious Education
		Sociology

Each student shall take six courses within each of the two groups in which the chief and secondary fields of work do not lie. Two of the six courses must be consecutive courses in the same department.

FOR THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF SCIENCE
(Household Administration)

Forty-two courses are required for graduation. The work extends over four years. A student's major purpose determines the selection of her work.

Programs may be classified in two main groups, first, the professional programs which aim to give definite preparation for specific occupations, and second, the non-professional programs which do not aim to prepare for responsibilities outside the home. In all groups of courses it has been the purpose to offer a large proportion of the liberal or cultural subjects rather than to train highly specialized technicians.

The work of the freshman year is the same for all students and is as follows:

English 1 and 2	Chemistry 1 and 2
History 1 and 2	or
Household Administration 1 and 2	Chemistry 3 and 4
or	Physiology 5 and 6
Household Administration 1a

†The courses of study are regarded in the following groups:
A. Language and Literature.
B. Mathematics and Science.
C. History, Philosophy, and Social Science.

In subsequent years there are certain required subjects. In addition to these, there is considerable freedom of election in order that students of different aims and aptitudes may work as advantageously as possible.

The non-professional course is adapted to those students who wish to devote the major part of their time to work in academic fields, but who also wish to take more courses in Foods, Clothing and Household Management than are permitted for the degree of Bachelor of Arts. The only stated requirements after the freshman year are as follows: six additional Household Administration courses, one semester of Psychology, two semester courses to be chosen from the departments of English, History, or Modern Language, two in Economics, two in Sociology and one in Home Nursing. Students are advised to choose in the sophomore year some academic field in which enough courses shall be taken to constitute a major. The four year program should be carefully planned under the guidance of a faculty adviser.

A bulletin giving more in detail the sequences of subjects offered and information in regard to opportunities open to graduates will be sent upon application to the Registrar.

Students are held responsible for observing the requirements for the degree and the proper sequence of courses.

COMBINED FIVE YEAR COURSE

Many of the subjects in the Household Administration course are academic in their nature and are regularly accredited for the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

It is, therefore, possible for a student to earn in five years both the degree of Bachelor of Science and the degree of Bachelor of Arts if she plans her work early enough to meet the requirements for both degrees. A number of students have already chosen this combined course, and it is strongly recommended for those to whom the additional year means no serious hardship.

CREDITS FROM SUMMER SCHOOLS

Students matriculated in the college may present credits, not exceeding in any case 9 semester hours, from an approved collegiate or university summer school. The permission of the Executive Committee should be secured in advance.

HOUSEHOLD ADMINISTRATION COURSE FOR COLLEGE GRADUATES

Graduates of other colleges may do work in the Household Administration Department toward a degree of Bachelor of Science. This will usually occupy two years, but if a candidate in her undergraduate study has already met certain requirements, the amount of work will be correspondingly less. It is not ordinarily possible, however, to meet all requirements in a single year of residence. College graduates who desire special work in Foods and Nutrition, Household Management or in Textiles and Clothing, but who do not purpose to complete the requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Science, may arrange schedules for such work with the Dean.

COURSE IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE CLEVELAND SCHOOL OF ART

By an arrangement with The Cleveland School of Art, a six-year course of study is offered, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science from this College. The course requires three years (ninety semester hours in addition to physical education) at the College for Women and three years at the School of Art. Household Administration students who wish to become specialists in costume design and interior decoration are urged to consider this combination course. Such students should specialize in textiles and clothing. Detailed information will be furnished by the Dean of the College or by the Director of the Cleveland School of Art.

Students in the liberal arts course are allowed four credits in art toward the Bachelor of Arts degree.

COURSE IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE SCHOOL OF LIBRARY SCIENCE

Students wishing to combine the college course with that of the School of Library Science of Western Reserve University may receive the degree of Bachelor of Science and the Certificate of the School of Library Science at the end of four years. To this end one year of credit will be given in the College for a year's work done in the School of Library Science. The year at the School of Library Science should be the Senior year.

COURSE IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE SCHOOLS OF LAW AND MEDICINE

By agreement with the Law School and School of Medicine of Western Reserve University opportunity is offered students who have met the requirements to elect all of their senior work in the professional school, so that their entire college and professional course is shortened by one year.

Students may apply for entrance to the Law or Medical Schools of Western Reserve University when they have completed without condition all requirements of the first three years in the College for Women (a total of 90 semester hours and the required Physical Education) and when they have met the major, minor, group and credit point requirements (pages 48, 49, 83). Upon satisfactory completion of the first year in the professional school, the student receives her bachelor's degree from the University.

For entrance to the School of Law no studies other than those required for the arts course are prerequisite.

The School of Medicine has found it necessary to limit the number of first-year students, so that admission in any year cannot be guaranteed to all applicants who may have met the entrance requirements. The Medical Faculty, therefore, reserves the right to choose from among the applicants those whose fitness is most evident from their previous academic record. The specific subjects required for entrance to the Medical School must be completed with a grade of "Fair" or better. All applications for admission to the first-year class should be filed not later than June first of each year. Applications received after July 15th will be considered only if there are vacancies in the class.

In the combined course with the School of Medicine the specific courses in the College that are required are as follows:

Chemistry 1 and 4	Physics 1, 2, 3 and 4
or	Biology 1, 2 and 3
Chemistry 3 and 4	English 1 and 2
Chemistry 5 and 6	German or French—3 courses

By consultation with the Dean early in the course, the college work may be arranged to meet the entrance requirements of the professional schools.

ONE YEAR COURSE IN INSTITUTIONAL ECONOMICS

The purpose of this course is to prepare mature women of executive ability for positions of responsibility in residence schools or charitable institutions or in school or industrial lunch rooms. Previous college training is not necessary but is desirable.

Information in regard to this course will be sent upon application to the Head of the Household Administration Department.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

The following statements include all courses offered, whether prescribed or elective. Unless otherwise stated, each course consists of three weekly exercises of one hour each.

In making choice of elective courses students are expected to confer with the Dean and members of the Faculty for advice and assistance. Students must give the Registrar written notice of their choice of electives for the second half-year of 1925-26 on or before January 14, 1926, for the first half-year of 1926-27 on or before May 21, 1926.

ART

PROFESSOR FOWLER

1, 2. History of Art. Ancient art, ancient life, literature and history. Lectures and collateral reading. Not given in 1926-1927.

3, 4. History of Art. Post-classical art; from the beginning of Christian art through the period of the Renaissance. Lectures and collateral reading. Not given in 1925-1926.

ASTRONOMY

PROFESSOR MOUNTCASTLE

1. The course is mainly descriptive and is amply illustrated. The simpler problems of spherical astronomy are discussed. Some attention is given to the history of Astronomy. Second half-year.

Mathematical Prerequisites: Algebra and Geometry of the college entrance requirements.

BIBLICAL LITERATURE

PROFESSOR HAYDN (Courses 1-11)
ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR LAMBERTON (Courses 13-18)

1a. Studies in the Old Testament. One hour a week, either half-year.*

1b. Studies in the Old Testament. Continuation of 1a. One hour a week, either half-year.*

2. Studies in the Beginnings of Christianity. One hour a week, either half-year.*

3. The Life and Teachings of Jesus. A detailed study of the life and message of Jesus, based on the Synoptic Gospels. First half-year.

4. The Pauline Epistles. A course in the English Testament aiming to exhibit the circumstances of writing, content, and permanent message of selected epistles. A sequel to course 3. Second half-year.

*These one-hour courses are offered for the benefit of those who desire a general knowledge of the Bible, but cannot give the time for a three-hour course in any one half-year. One hour of credit is given for each one-hour course.

5. The People of the Old Testament. A study of the Hebrew-Jewish people in Old Testament times—their place in the ancient world, the development of their national religious life, their great personalities, their best gift to humanity. Text-book and lectures. First half-year.

6. The Beginnings of the Christian Faith. Its Founder, great leaders and earliest problems. Text-book and lectures. Second half-year.

7. Early Old Testament Poetry. A series of studies in the English Old Testament, taking up Hebrew poetry as exhibited especially in the historical books and in early Psalms. Either half-year.

8. Later Old Testament Poetry. A continuation of 7, taking up chiefly the poetry of later Psalms. Second half-year.

9. The Prophets of the Eighth Century B. C. A course based on the English version, taking up the times, personal characteristics, and messages of Amos, Hosea, Isaiah, and Micah. Either half-year.

10. The Prophets of the Seventh and Sixth Centuries, B. C. A continuation of course 9. Either half-year.

11. The Development of Religious Ideas in the Old Testament. A careful study of selected passages from the Old Testament (English Version), aiming to trace this development from the earliest to the latest sources. First half-year.

13, 14. Hebrew Grammar and Reading. An introductory course, followed by readings from the Old Testament text. Throughout the year.

15. New Testament Greek. Selected reading in the Greek New Testament. The student must have had at least two years of Greek. Either half-year.

16. Christian Archaeology. The reconstruction of the History of the primitive Church according to archæological remains, with discussion of symbolism, origin of art forms, common life, etc. Lectures (illustrated), papers, and discussions. Second half-year.

17, 18. Ecclesiastical History. A review of the successive periods in the history of organized Christianity, notably the Ancient Church, the Mediaeval Papacy and the Protestant Reformation.

(No prerequisites are required in Biology 1, 21-22 and 25-26. Biology 1 is recommended, however, to all who wish to become students or teachers in any of the biological sciences; it may be logically followed by Biology 2, 21-22, or by courses 25-26. The following sequence is recommended for students who wish to continue in Zoology for more than one year, or to prepare for medicine: courses 1, 2, 3, 8, 15, 16, which may be accompanied by courses

7 or 10, 12, 17, 19 and 20. Students planning to continue in Botany longer than one year should elect courses in the following sequence: 21, 22, 23, 24, 31 and 32, which may be accompanied by courses 19, 20, 25, 26, 27, 28, or 29.)

1. Biology. An introduction to the study of animals and plants as forces in the living world, devoted to a first-hand study of organisms, and to biological problems that are of most interest to the citizen and the community. Two lectures or recitations and one laboratory exercise of three hours.

2. Zoology of Invertebrates. A comparative study of important types of invertebrate animals. One lecture or recitation and two laboratory exercises of two hours each. Second half-year. Prerequisite, course 1.

3. Zoology of Vertebrates. A comparative study of representative vertebrate animals. One lecture or recitation and two laboratory exercises of two hours each. First half-year. Prerequisite, course 1.

7. General Physiology. An advanced course in physiology. One lecture and two laboratory exercises of two hours each. First half-year. Prerequisite, a knowledge of the fundamentals of physics and organic chemistry, and a knowledge of elementary physiology.

8. Elements of Vertebrate Embryology. A study of the development of birds and mammals. Two recitations and one laboratory exercise of three hours. Second half-year. Prerequisite, course 3.

10. Life and Instincts of Birds. A special course in the study of animal activity, illustrated with original material, and consisting of lectures, field excursions and first-hand study. The number of students is limited to ten. Second half-year. Prerequisite, course 1.

12. Animal Behavior. A course for the study and discussion of significant works upon the activities and mental powers of animals, dealing particularly with the problems of instinct and intelligence. Three exercises with reports upon the literature. Second half-year. Prerequisite, course 1.

13, 14. Advanced Zoology. Special work in the field of zoology; to be arranged by consultation with the instructor in charge.

15. Animal Histology. A study of the structure of animal cells, tissues and organs, with training in the methods by which such materials are prepared for microscopic observation. Registration can be made only after consultation with the instructor. Three laboratory exercises with assigned readings and reports. Prerequisite, course 1 and at least one other laboratory course in this department.

16. Animal Histology. A continuation of course 15. Students who have satisfactorily completed course 15 may continue the subject by special arrangement with the instructor.

17. Animal Life and Evolution. A series of illustrated lectures on the phenomena of life in their wider relations dealing mainly with the higher animals and man, and with the problems of variation, heredity, development, and evolution; a consideration of the aims, methods, and results of modern biology. Three lectures or recitations, with designated readings. First half-year. Prerequisite, course 1.

19. Heredity. An introduction to the study of heredity, with emphasis on its importance in plant and animal breeding, and in human affairs. Three lectures or recitations. Prerequisite, course 1.

20. Genetics. A more technical study of the subject of heredity and variation, in which the student becomes familiar with the biometric methods and with present methods of analyzing the germ-plasm. Two recitations and one laboratory period. Election to be made only after consultation with the instructor.

21, 22. General Botany. An introductory study of plants. Two lectures or recitations and one laboratory or field exercise of three hours. Throughout the year. No prerequisite. Course 22 is also open to students who have successfully completed course 1 or its equivalent.

23. Nature and Development of Plants. A survey of the entire Plant Kingdom. The development of the forms will be illustrated by studies of the life histories of the more important types. Two lectures or recitations and one laboratory exercise of three hours. Prerequisite, courses 21, 22, or their equivalent.

24. Plant Physiology. An experimental study of the living plant. One lecture and two laboratory exercises of two hours each. Prerequisite, courses 21, 22, or their equivalent.

25, 26. Local Flora. A study of the flowering plants of Cleveland and vicinity, with practice in their identification in both summer and winter conditions. Two lectures or recitations and one field or laboratory exercise of three hours. Throughout the year. No prerequisite.

27, 28. Plant Histology. The structure of plant cells, tissues and organs, with training in the methods of preparing these materials for microscopic observation. Three laboratory exercises to be arranged, with assigned readings and reports. Throughout the year. Prerequisite, courses 21, 22. Election to be made only with the permission of the instructor.

29. Mycology and Plant Pathology. A course dealing with the commoner fleshy forms of fungi and the diseases of important cultivated crops and of forest and shade trees. Two lectures or recitations and one field or laboratory exercise of three hours. First half-year. Prerequisite, course 23.

31, 32. Botanical Problems. Special work may be arranged according to the qualifications of the student. May be taken for three or six hours credit. Elections are to be made only after consultation with the instructor.

The laboratory fee for courses 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 8, 10, 13, 14, 15, 16, 20, 21, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 31 and 32 is $5.00 each.

2. CHEMISTRY OF THE METALS. A portion of the time will be devoted to the study of practical applications of inorganic chemistry. Two recitations and one laboratory exercise. Prerequisite, course 1 or 3.

3. INORGANIC CHEMISTRY. A more advanced course in general chemistry for students who present chemistry for admission. Two recitations and one laboratory exercise.

4. CHEMISTRY OF THE METALS. An advanced course in the chemistry of the metals, with some qualitative analysis. One recitation and two laboratory exercises.

5, 6. ORGANIC CHEMISTRY. Two recitations and one laboratory exercise. Prerequisite, course 2 or 4. Throughout the year.

7. ELEMENTS OF QUALITATIVE ANALYSIS. Three laboratory exercises. Prerequisite, course 2 or 4.

8. PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY. An elementary course treating principally of the theory of solutions and electro-chemistry. Three times a week. Prerequisite, three half-year courses in chemistry.

9, 10. ELEMENTS OF QUANTITATIVE ANALYSIS. Three laboratory exercises. Throughout the year. Prerequisite, course 7.

11. FOOD ANALYSIS. Laboratory work with readings and discussions. Prerequisite, course 5.

12. CHEMICAL MICROSCOPY. A general course, involving the use of the microscope and its accessories; microchemical methods as applied to chemical investigation. Three laboratory exercises. Prerequisite, three half-year courses in chemistry.

13. COLLOID CHEMISTRY. The nature, preparation and general behavior of colloidal substances. One lecture and two laboratory exercises of three hours each. Open only to juniors and seniors who have completed organic chemistry.

14. EXPERIMENTAL PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY. A laboratory course on the determination of molecular weights, equilibrium constants, electrical conductivity and electro-motive force. Three exercises of three hours each. Elective for those who are taking, or have taken Chemistry 8.

16. CHEMISTRY OF NUTRITION. The chemistry of food and nutrition. Prerequisite, course 5.

19, 20. Advanced Laboratory Courses. Special work may be arranged according to the qualifications of the student in analytical, organic, or physical chemistry. In general, however, not more than one course in these sub-divisions will be given in any half-year.

The laboratory fees for each half-year are as follows; courses 1, 2 and 3, $4.00; course 4, $6.00; courses 5, 6, 7, 11 and 12, $7.00; courses 9, 10, 13, 14, 19 and 20, $8.00.

The usual selection of courses for students majoring in chemistry is; 1 and 2 or 3 and 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10. They are advised to elect courses in physics and mathematics.

COMPARATIVE LITERATURE

For purposes of classification (i. e., arrangement as major and minor subjects) certain courses are grouped under the general heading of Comparative Literature. Students may choose as major or minor subjects suitable combinations of these courses, but the head of the Department of Comparative Literature, Professor Fowler, must be consulted before the choice of courses is determined.

The courses which may be combined by students who make Comparative Literature a Major or Minor Subject are:

Biblical Literature 7, 8, 11, 18.
English 10, 11, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 21, 22, 26.
German 7, 8, 9, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 20.
Greek 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10.
Latin 3, 4, 6, 10, 11, 12, 19.
French 7-17 inclusive.
Italian 24, 25, 26.
Spanish 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38.

ECONOMICS

Professor Arbuthnot (Courses 11, 12, 15-18)
Professor Dunmore (Courses 35, 36)
Associate Professor James (Courses 25, 27, 28, 43)
Assistant Professor Julian (Courses 23, 24, 31-34)
Mr. Weisman (Courses 13, 14, 19, 20)

11, 12. Principles of Economics. This double course runs throughout each year, and is prerequisite to the election of any of the others except 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36. The fundamental features in the existing economic system, the consumption of wealth, its production, business organization, value, monopoly, money and banking, protection and free trade, rent, wages, interest, profits, transportation, socialism, taxation, public expenditures, and kindred topics.

13, 14. Money and Banking. In this double course which extends through the first and second half-years, the principles of money, credit, and banking are taken up. Some of the problems considered are the purchasing power of money, token money, fiat money, bimetalism, gold standard and other proposed standards, with illustrations from the monetary history of various countries, especially the United States. A study is made of the activities and organization of the modern commercial bank, of agricultural credit, and of investment banking institutions, together with a survey of the history and present organization of the banking systems of the leading European countries and of the United States, with special emphasis upon the Federal Reserve System.

15. Socialism. Scientific, State, professorial, Fabian and Christian. Utopian schemes. Socialistic parties and the effect of the War upon the movement.

19. Railways. The growth and character of the railroad business, its organization and finances, theories of rate-making, and the economic and public relations of common carriers are taken up.

20. International Trade. A study of the theory and practice of foreign exchange, a survey of the history of tariff legislation in the United States, a discussion of the economic and fiscal aspects of the tariff, and a consideration of the present commercial policies of the leading nations.

23, 24. Industrial Management. The early part of this course is devoted to the fundamentals of sound management. Some of the topics discussed are: fundamentals and development of organization types; plant location and layout; industrial lighting; and standardization of product. Following this, the devices are studied which fit into the background of successful management policies and principles. Some of the topics are: job study; wage payment; and personnel relations. The last part of the course takes up the various methods of control: budgeting for administration control; management control through costs; and statistics as a means of control.

25. Commercial Organization. Organization of the channels of distribution—the relations, selling problems, and methods of the wholesale and retail merchants. Cooperative marketing.

27. Corporation Finance. The formation, financing and managing of corporations. A study of corporate securities for purposes of promotion and re-organization; a discussion of questions of dividend policy—of surplus and requirements of working capital. A prerequisite to course 28.

28. Investments. Sources of demand and supply of capital, function of bond houses and the stock exchange in marketing securities; criteria for the selection of investments. A critical analysis of common and preferred stocks of leading corporations and a study of government, municipal, railroad, and industrial bonds. Prerequisite, course 27.

31, 32. Elementary Accounting. This course deals with the basic principles of accounting. Problems and laboratory exercises enable the student to master the mechanics of record-keeping, closing the books, and preparing the financial statements. Other subjects studied are: preventing and correcting errors; interest and discount; depreciation; partnership accounting; and an introduction to corporation accounting.

33, 34. Second-Year Accounting. A short review of the elementary principles of Accounting with emphasis on the application of theory to the solution of C. P. A. problems arising thereunder; principles of corporate accounting with stress on the legal whys and wherefors underlying them; analysis of Balance Sheet and Profit and Loss Statements for credit and investment purposes; consideration of Accounting for Decedents' and Insolvents' Estates. The general aim is a working knowledge of higher accounting.

35, 36. Business Law. This double course dealing with problems often met with in the conduct of business runs throughout the year. The formation, operation and discharge of contracts, principal and agent, sales of personal property, negotiable paper, partnership, and corporations. Students may not take the second half-year without having had the work of the first half-year. Open to Juniors and Seniors only.

43. Insurance Principles and Practices. This course discusses the fundamental principles and practices of life, fire, accident and health, automobile and credit insurance. The students will make a critical study of the standard policies from the points of view of the insurance company and of the policy holder; the organization and management of the insurance company together with the agency system.

EDUCATION

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR COLLIER

By requirement of the State Department of Education, applicants for the four-year provisional high school certificate must present the following credits in semester hours in this and related departments:

Psychology	3
History of Education	3
Principles of Teaching	3
Special Methods	2
Educational Psychology	2
School Administration and Management	2
Observation and Practice Teaching	3
Additional hours	6
Total	24

The six additional hours mentioned above (with not more than 3 hours in the same subject) may be selected from general or educational sociology, educational measurements, principles of education, economics, or ethics, "in so far as the content applies to the teaching profession". Additional hours in the group of specified courses may also be counted in the total requirement. Any other courses offered in place of these suggested immediately above must have secured in advance the approval of the State Department.

Students who desire to qualify for the state certificate should note the following requirements:

1. Major and minor fields of study should be selected which prepare directly for the type of teaching position desired.

2. At least fifty per cent of the grades obtained in the major and minor fields should be G or above, and the grades in other courses of satisfactory character.

3. Evidence of physical and personal fitness for the work of teaching will be required. Those with physical defects likely to endanger their chances of success in teaching, with speech defects, weak voices or inadequate command of English, cannot be admitted to the course in Practice Teaching.

4. Course 6 below should be taken in the Sophomore year. On the satisfactory completion of this course application for candidacy for the state certificate should be filed with the head of the Department of Education. Courses 5, 7 and 8 should be taken, if possible, during the same term of the Senior year.

Starred courses are required; other courses elective.

1. Principles of Education. An introductory survey of educational theory, and a study of some of the problems of contemporary American education. Not offered in 1926-1927.

3. Measurement in Education. The results of education and special training as determined by exact measurements, in the light of original individual differences in mental and physical traits. Standard tests and elementary statistics. Not offered in 1926-1927.

*5. Principles of Teaching. A study of the principles and practical problems involved in high school teaching. Each half-year.

*6. History of Education. An analysis of teaching as a profession, as related to individual capacities and interests; a survey of the history of the profession. Each half-year.

*7. Observation and Practice Teaching. In Fairmount Junior High School. For administrative reasons the number enrolled in this work must be approximately the same in each half-year. In case it is necessary that this course should be taken in any particular term, application should be made well in advance. Not open to graduates of other colleges unless permission is secured one half-year in advance.

*8. School Administration and Management. A study of school administration and management in so far as they concern the classroom teacher. Each half-year.

The attention of prospective teachers is called to the following special methods courses which are offered in their respective departments:

English 27. The Teaching of English in Secondary Schools.
French 22. Teachers' Training Course.

German 19. Teachers' Training Course.
History 27 and 28. The Study of Teaching of History.
Household Administration 27. The Teaching of Household Arts.
Latin 8. Teachers' Training Course in Latin.
Mathematics 9. Teachers' Course in Mathematics.

Students who expect to teach English must have completed a major before they will receive the recommendation of the department of English.

GEOLOGY AND MINERALOGY

PROFESSOR HYDE

MR. FURCRON

Course groups 1 and 2, 3 and 4, 5 and 6 each constitute a year's work. The first term's work alone may be selected, but the first term's work is prerequisite to the second term's work of each pair, except as noted below.

Students expecting to take more than one year's work in Geology should begin with 5 and 6.

1, 2. MINERALOGY. The elements of crystallography, followed by the study of minerals and the methods of determining them. One year of college chemistry must precede. Two hours of recitation and lecture and one laboratory period of three hours.

3. PHYSIOGRAPHIC GEOLOGY. The composition of the earth's crust and the forces at work on its surface. One year of high school chemistry or Chemistry 1 or 3 must precede. Not open to students who have completed or are taking course 5. Three lectures and recitations, including three field trips during the term.

4. STRUCTURAL AND HISTORICAL GEOLOGY. The structure of the earth, its history and the evolution of its life. A continuation of course 3 but may, instead, succeed course 5 or 6. May be accompanied by course 8. Lectures and recitations.

5, 6. PHYSIOGRAPHY. The earth's surface features, their causes or the manner of their formation, with examples of their influences on human history, sociological and economic conditions, drawn largely from North American occurrences. Course 6 may succeed course 3 by consent of instructor. Two lectures or recitations and one laboratory or field period.

7. FIELD GEOLOGY. Field work on local geology until Thanksgiving, followed by completion of reports on same. May include geological mapping by plane table and stadia alidade by qualified students. A full year's work in courses 3, 4, 5 or 6 must precede. May be taken for 3 or 6 hours credit. Election subject to consent of instructor.

8. PALEONTOLOGY. Life development throughout the geological periods, and the use of fossils in the determination of the age of rocks. Course 4 must precede or accompany, and at least one year of biology is desirable. Field work on Saturdays. Election by consent of instructor.

9, 10. ADVANCED FIELD OR LABORATORY COURSE. Special work may be arranged according to the qualifications of the student.

A laboratory fee of $2.00 is charged for courses 1 and 2; of $1.00 for courses 5, 6, and 8.

GERMAN

PROFESSOR DEERING

1, 2. BEGINNER'S GERMAN. Grammar and reading of very easy modern texts. In this and the following courses German is spoken as much as possible in the class-room, but such conversation is regarded as a means, not as an end. Throughout the year.

The course also introduces the student to methods of experimentation and investigation in the field of cookery. Lectures, recitations and laboratory work. Second half-year. Laboratory fee, $6.00.

8. An Introductory Course, for students from the School of Nursing, including a study of body requirements, the composition and value of foods and the principles of food preparation. Laboratory periods are given to practical work designed to enable the student to prepare food for the sick and to carry out physicians' directions with understanding and accuracy.

12. Institutional Economics. A study of the problems involved in large group work; equipment, organization of service, employment, management problems, systems of accounting, purchase of supplies and planning of menus.

13. Lunchroom Management. Practical work in lunchrooms and cafeterias. Only those students will be admitted whose schedules permit consecutive work at specified periods. Class is limited to ten. First half-year.

15. Textiles. A study of textile fibers and fabrics, including laces. It includes the study of their characteristics and factors which affect their cost and serviceability. Lectures, outside reading and visits to stores, factories and museums. First half-year.

16. Textiles and Clothing. A preliminary course in machine and hand sewing, analysis of patterns and their adaptation to individual figures. It aims also to help students to become intelligent purchasers of staple materials and of ready-made clothing. The course requires the making of undergarments, a wash blouse and a simple costume, including hat as well as dress. It includes also the care and repair of clothing. Lecture and laboratory. Second half-year. Laboratory fee, $3.00.

17, 18. Textiles and Clothing. A course in dressmaking and practical designing of clothing with special attention to line, color and texture. The course requires the making of individual dress forms, practice in the fitting of garments and the construction of two dresses and a hat each half-year. A brief sketch of the history of costume is given in the second half-year. Lectures, laboratory work, outside reading and visits to the Historical Museum and the Cleveland Museum of Art. Throughout the year. Laboratory fee, $3.00 each half-year.

19, 20. Textiles and Clothing. An advanced course in dressmaking, tailoring and practical designing, including the adaptation of historic designs to current modes. The study of color is carried on through the use of dyes. One problem in millinery is required each half-year. Throughout the year. Laboratory fee, $3.00 each half-year.

25. Household Management. A study of the processes and expenditures involved in the maintenance of the individual household. The course includes a study of the family budget, the heating, plumbing, lighting and ventilation of the dwelling house, the equipment of the kitchen and laundry, the use of labor-saving devices, and the administration of the household routine. First half-year.

27. Teaching the Household Arts. Their place in modern education, methods of teaching, course of study, and equipment. Observation and practice in the public schools of the city of Cleveland, with regular teaching of classes in social settlements. First half-year.

29. Color and Design. Elementary principles of color and design, with special reference to clothing and interior decoration. (Given at the Cleveland School of Art.)

31. Field Work. Practical work under supervision. Designed for students, preferably seniors, who desire to specialize in hospital work whether from the administrative point of view or that of the specialist in nutrition investigation. Nutrition work in cooperation with social agencies will also be accepted.

For Home Nursing See Nursing Education 6.

The following courses are open to Seniors and Juniors and credited toward the Bachelor of Arts degree. They are not credited toward the Bachelor of Science degree.

9. Foods. A brief survey course discussing the relation of food to health, food values, the effect of heat upon food materials and the combination of foods in the family dietary. Lectures, readings and recitations. Prerequisites, Chemistry 1 and Physiology 5. First half-year. (This course is classified in Group B and is credited toward the science requirement.)

26. The Administration of the Household. A course similar to course 25, but discussing the topics less in detail and including the purchase of furnishings for the house. Second half-year.

LATIN

PROFESSOR PERKINS

1. Cicero De Senectute, Livy. Selections from Books XXI through XXX, covering the most important periods of the Second Punic War; the writing of Latin. Collateral reading in Roman History. First half-year.

2. Cicero in His Letters (Tyrrell). Latin Composition. Second half-year.

Only four of the following elective courses will be given in any half-year.

3. Odes and Epodes of Horace. First half-year.

4. Catullus. Selections from Tibullus, Propertius, and Ovid's Tristia. Second half-year.

5. Letters of Pliny the Younger. First half-year.

6. Juvenal and Martial. Second half-year.

7. Tacitus and Suetonius. Tacitus. Agricola, Annals (Books 1, 2, entire; Books 3 and 4, selections). Suetonius, selections. First half-year.

8. Teacher's Training Course. This course is recommended only for students who have had two years of elective work in Latin. The course aims to give prospective teachers assurance in their work and includes lectures on problems connected with the teaching of Latin in secondary schools; practical exercises in the study of the grammar and the authors read in secondary schools. Second half-year.

9. Roman Comedy. Terence and Plautus. First half-year.

10. Seneca. Selections from (a) Prose writings. (b) Tragedies. Second half-year.

11. History of Latin Literature (Prose). Lectures with direction of the student's private reading, one hour a week. Advanced course in writing Latin, two hours a week. First half-year.

12. History of Latin Literature (Poetry). Lectures, with reading of typical selections, and direction of the student's private reading, one hour a week. Advanced course in writing Latin, two hours a week. Second half-year.

13. Tacitus, Agricola and Germania. First half-year.

14. Lucretius. Second half-year.

15. The Life and Times of Cicero. First half-year.

16. Horace, Satires and Epistles. Second half-year.

17. Roman Civilization. An historical course designed to show the development of Roman civilization. Authors not previously read in Latin will be read in translations and summaries given. There will be discussions of various periods in Roman literature with the study of Roman life and thought and the consideration of the resemblances and differences between Roman and Western life. First half-year.

18. Continuation of Course 17. Second half-year.

19. Latin Literature in English Translations. Lectures and readings. Second half-year.

MATHEMATICS

PROFESSOR PALMIE'

1. Plane Trigonometry. Dresden, Plane Trigonometry. First half-year.

3. Plane and Spherical Trigonometry. Conant, Plane and Spherical Trigonometry. First half-year.

4. Analytical Geometry. Siceloff-Wentworth-Smith, Analytical Geometry. Second half-year.

6. Differential Calculus. Townsend and Goodenough, Essentials of Calculus. First half-year.

7. Integral Calculus. Townsend and Goodenough, Essentials of Calculus. Second half-year.

9a. Foundations of Geometry and Algebra. Especially designed for students expecting to teach mathematics. Open to Juniors. First half-year.

9b. Continuation of 9a. Second half-year.

10. Differential Calculus (advanced course). Harnack's Introduction to the Calculus.

12. Theory of Functions, of complex variable. Introductory course.

13. The Theory of Equations. Burnside and Panton's Theory of Equations.

14. Projective Geometry. Dowling, Projective Geometry.

15. Theory of Substitution Groups, and its application to algebraic equations.

16. Theory of Numbers. Elementary course.

18. Theory of Differential Equations. Elementary course.

19. Geometry of Four Dimensions. Elementary course. Manning's Geometry of Four Dimensions.

MUSIC

PROFESSOR CLEMENS (Courses 3-8)
MR. POPE (Courses 9, 10)

3, 4. Harmony. Throughout the year.

5, 6. Harmony and Counterpoint. Throughout the year.

7, 8. Harmony, Counterpoint and Practical Harmony at the Pianoforte. Throughout the year.

9, 10. The History of Music. No special technical knowledge of music is required. The course includes the rudiments of musical form and theory and is freely illustrated at the piano. It is intended for students who wish to acquire a more intelligent appreciation of classical music. Throughout the year.

NURSING EDUCATION

PHILOSOPHY, PSYCHOLOGY

PROFESSOR AIKINS
ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR MOORE
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR RUSH

1. Elementary Psychology. This course is introductory to all the other work in the department. It is open to Sophomores. Each half-year.

2, 3, 4. Personality, Character and Mental Hygiene. The beginnings of personality, the struggle for an efficient, happy and unified life, and the things that make for success or failure. The work will include the study of children and adolescents in their normal development (course 2), feeblemindedness, hysteria, neurotic and anti-social trends, the mental mechanisms involved in various forms of insanity and in numerous minor mental ills, the psychoanalytic method, the psychology of religion. Courses 2 and 4, second half-year; course 3, first half-year. Courses 3 and 4 are not to be taken without 2. Course 2 is regarded as a course in Educational Psychology.

5. Ethics. An introduction to the history of morals and an outline of ethical theory. First half-year.

6. Ethics. A discussion of practical problems. Second half-year.

8. Philosophy and Present-Day Problems. A general introduction to the central problems of philosophy, with special reference to contemporary theories and their practical consequences. Second half-year.

9, 10. History of Philosophy. The ancient philosophers will be studied in the first half-year, and the modern thinkers in the second half-year. Selections from the writings of the various philosophers will be read by the students.

11. Special Course in philosophy or psychology for advanced students. The content of the course may vary from year to year. Second half-year.

12. Logic. Deductive and inductive logic, with special reference to the social sciences. Second half-year.

13. Aesthetics. The nature of the beautiful, and of its manifestations in art, literature, music, and the drama. First half-year.

16. Philosophy of Religion. The nature, origin, and content of religion and of religious experience. Second half-year.

17. Educational Psychology. Topics considered are native endowment, the psychology of the learning process and the application of psychology to teaching in general.

21. Experimental Psychology. Readings, discussions, and laboratory work which will serve to introduce the student to typical experimental methods and to the present state of exact knowledge regarding the learning process, practice, fatigue, attention, perception, memory, and the higher thought processes. Each half-year.

26. Business Psychology. Second half-year.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

MISS MAY (Courses 1-5)
MRS. ADAMS (Courses 1-4)
MISS WARNER (Courses 1-4)

1, 2. First Year. Fall Term: Field hockey, basket ball, hy-lo ball, volley ball. Winter term: Individual work on developing apparatus, free exercises, wands, dumb bells, dancing (folk, athletic and aesthetic) and basket ball. One hour of individual work and one hour of formal work (class drill or dancing) required and one hour of any two of the above. Spring Term: Base ball, volley ball, field and track work.

3, 4. Second Year. Fall Term; Field hockey, basket ball, hy-lo ball, volley ball. Winter Term: Individual work, dancing, Indian clubs and basket ball. One hour of individual work required and one hour of any two of the above. Three hours of individual work may be elected. Spring Term: Base ball, volley ball, field and track work.

5. Third and Fourth Years. Advanced work in: aesthetic dancing, Indian clubs, individual and competitive sports. (Open to students who have completed 1, 2, 3 and 4.)

PHYSICS

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR MC CORKLE
MR. HUMPHREYS
MR. KNAPP

1. General Physics. Mechanics, heat and sound. Lecture course. Three lectures weekly. First half-year.

2. General Physics. Electricity, magnetism and light. Lecture course. Continuation of course 1. Three lectures weekly. Second half-year. Courses 1 and 2 are prerequisite to all other courses except that 3 and 4 may be taken with 1 and 2 respectively.

3. General Physics. Mechanics, heat and sound. Laboratory course. Two two-hour laboratory periods and one lecture hour weekly. First half-year.

4. General Physics. Electricity, magnetism and light. Laboratory course. Two two-hour laboratory periods and one lecture hour weekly. Second half-year.

5. Mechanics. Introduction to analytical mechanics. Lecture course. Three lectures or recitations weekly. First half-year.

6. Theory of Heat. An introduction to the general theory. Lecture course. Given mainly by lectures with references. Three hours weekly. Second half-year.

7. Physical Optics. General theory. Lecture course, with references. Three hours weekly. First half-year.

8. Sound. General theory. Lectures and recitations. Three hours weekly. Second half-year.

9. Electricity and Magnetism. An introduction to the mathematical theory. Considerable attention is paid to the theory of measurements. Lecture course. Three hours weekly. First half-year.

10. Electricity and Magnetism. Lecture course. Continuation of course 9. Three hours weekly. Second half-year.

11. Mechanics and Heat. Each student spends six hours a week in the laboratory and makes a complete report on the theory of each experiment assigned to her. Laboratory course. Six hours weekly. First half-year. Prerequisite, courses 1, 2, 3 and 4.

12. Advanced Laboratory. Special topics are assigned for detailed study, chiefly in light and electricity. The aim of the course is to introduce more advanced experimental methods than are usually possible in the elementary courses. Intended primarily for those who intend to specialize in Physics. Laboratory course. Nine hours weekly. Second half-year. Prerequisite, courses 1, 2, 3, 4 and 11.

MATHEMATICAL PREREQUISITES TO THE VARIOUS COURSES.

For courses 1, 2, 3 and 4 a knowledge of algebra through quadratics and the binomial theorem and of plane geometry. This constitutes the college entrance requirement in mathematics and is sufficient, but whenever possible, students will find it advantageous to take plane trigonometry and analytical geometry along with courses 1 and 2.

For courses 7, 8 and 11 a knowledge of plane trigonometry and analytical geometry.

For courses 5, 6, 9, 10, 12 and 13 a knowledge of differential and integral calculus.

FEES.

In order to help defray the initial cost and maintenance of the apparatus used it is necessary to charge fees in some of the courses, as follows:

Courses 1 and 2, $2.00 each.

Courses 3, 4, 11 and 12, $5.00 each.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Students planning to make Physics the major subject will find it advantageous to begin the study of Physics and Mathematics in the Freshman year.

Students generally will find it easier to take courses 1 and 2 one year and courses 3 and 4 the following year.

(See Page 81)

POLITICAL SCIENCE

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR SHOUP (Courses 1, 2, 25, 26, 31, 32)
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR WEEKS (Courses 3, 4, 15, 16, 39, 40)

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR COLLETT

MISS KECK

MISS GARDNER

5, 6. Human Physiology and Hygiene. The object of the course is to present normal human physiology in clear and simple terms, and upon this basis to build a reasonable conception of hygiene. Two class hours and one laboratory exercise of two hours. Laboratory fee, $2.00 each half-year. Throughout the year.

GENERAL INFORMATION

GENERAL REGULATIONS

The first half-year begins on the Tuesday after the sixteenth day of September, and continues, with a Thanksgiving recess of three days and a Christmas recess of two weeks, until the first Saturday in February. The second half-year begins on the Monday after the first Saturday in February, and continues, with a Spring recess of one week, until Commencement, which occurs on the Wednesday after the tenth of June (or after the ninth in years in which February has twenty-nine days). No college exercises are held on Washington's birthday and Memorial day. The exercises of the first half-year begin with prayers in the chapel at ten o'clock. Entering students are expected to matriculate during the four days preceding the opening of college. The halls of residence will be open to receive students Sunday evening before the opening of college.

Requests for catalogues or general information should be addressed to the Registrar of the College for Women. Letters respecting the admission or dismissal of students should be addressed to the Dean of the College for Women.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

The principles and influence of the College are distinctly Christian, but the College has no formal connection with any particular denomination. A short service of worship is held in the chapel at a quarter past nine o'clock, on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings, compulsory for the whole College. The Tuesday service is conducted by the President, while those of Thursday and Friday are largely of a musical content. It is desired that so far as possible each student should enter into the life of some city church. The students carry on a Young Women's Christian Association, the aims of which are to maintain in the College a healthy, progressive Christian spirit and to keep the students in touch with the religous and charitable work of the world.

SCHOLARSHIP

Students are graded in their studies by letters which have value as follows: E (excellent), G (good), F (fair), P (pass), D (deficient), X (deficient without the privilege of re-examination).

Examinations, three hours in length, are given in each department, at the end of each half-year.

A student who receives a grade of D will be given an opportunity to take a re-examination within six weeks after the beginning of the next half-year, on dates named by the Registrar. A student who fails to take the re-examination at the appointed time may take it during the next regular examination period. If not successful then, the course is to be repeated.

In general, the grade P in any course may be considered as the pass mark only when the average grade of the student for the term or year is above P.

A student who drops a course without written permission from the Dean shall receive X for the course.

In order to receive credit for a course marked "Incomplete" at the close of the first half-year, the work of the course must be completed before the next September. In order to receive credit for a course marked "Incomplete" at the close of the second half-year, the work of the course must be completed before the next February.

Excessive absence from a course will reduce the grade in that course.

A student who fails in the work of an elective course is to remove this deficiency, or complete another course as extra work.

CLASSIFICATION AND GRADUATION REQUIREMENTS

For Sophomore Classification: Satisfactory completion of at least 8 three-hour courses (24 semester hours); removal of all entrance conditions.

For Junior Classification: Satisfactory completion of at least 18 three-hour courses (54 semester hours); completion of all freshman requirements, including 2 courses in Physical Education.

For Senior Classification: Satisfactory completion of at least 28 three-hour courses (84 semester hours); completion of all sophomore requirements, including 4 courses in Physical Education.

Graduation: Satisfactory completion of at least 40 three-hour courses (120 semester hours) as outlined on pages 48-50 with a grade of "Fair" or better in at least 30 three-hour courses (90 semester hours) and 4 courses in Physical Education; at least as many credit points as College for Women courses (for purposes of evaluation E=3, G=2, F=1, below F=no credit points).

Students entering from other colleges are required to complete the work of at least one year (30 semester hours) in residence and to have a grade of "Fair" or better in at least three-fourths of all work done in the College for Women. They must also have at least as many credit points as they have College for Women courses.

LIBRARIES

The Library is housed on the first and second floors of Clark Hall. The English library on the first floor contains all the books needed for courses in English, while the Main library on the second floor contains all books used in other courses with the exception of books on religion. There is a separate collection of religious books in the Chapel known as the Florence Harkness Biblical Library. This collection is being constantly enlarged by means of funds from the Florence Harkness Foundation.

The entire library contains about twenty-five thousand volumes which have been selected with special reference to the needs of the students. There is also a generous periodical list containing representative foreign as well as English and American titles. Besides the regular appropriation from the College the library is fortunate in having a number of funds with which to purchase books of general interest in addition to those in special fields. These funds are as follows:

The Henry E. Bourne 1899 fund for books in history.
The Henry E. Bourne 1911 fund for books in history.
The D. A. R. fund for books in American history.
The Delta Phi Upsilon fund for books on art and the classics.
The Hiram C. Haydn fund for books dealing with the intellectual and social development of women.
The Harriet S. Hurlbut fund for books of general interest.
The Catherine S. Kellogg fund for books in French and Italian.
The Gertrude J. Ostrander fund for books in English and biology.
The Phi Kappa Zeta fund for books of general interest.
The Carrie Butler Thwing fund for books in English and history.
The Charles Franklin Thwing Alumnae fund for books on education and philosophy.
Mrs. Henry S. Upson's fund for books on history.

Cleveland has many fine libraries to which students of the college may have free access. The Library of Adelbert College is the most easily accessible. This is a scholarly collection of one hundred and twenty-two thousand bound volumes, and thirty thousand unbound books and pamphlets. Its periodical collection is made up of many valuable sets in classical philology and archaeology, Germanic and general philology, history, anthropology and science in addition to the oldest and best literary magazines.

Case library offers the students excellent facilities for study in many fields, having a specially strong collection in the subjects of economics, sociology, American history, botany and chemistry. There are one hundred and ten thousand volumes in the library.

In its splendid new building the Cleveland Public Library offers the advantages of a fine collection under the most favorable conditions for serious study. Notable among its special collections are those for the study of Shakespeare, modern literature, history, art and archaeology, and the John G. White collection of Folklore and Orientalia which stands alone in its field. The library contains between eight hundred and nine hundred thousand volumes.

LABORATORIES AND MUSEUMS

Biology. The biological laboratory is especially designed for the study of living things and is fully equipped for instruction in zoology and botany. It contains vivaria, teaching collections of animals and plants, a large reference library, the best appliances for heating, ventilation, and illumination, and a well equipped laboratory for photography, together with excellent facilities for optical projection.

Chemistry. The chemical laboratory is a three-story building of modern construction. The building consists of a lecture room, two recitation rooms, seven large laboratories, nine small laboratories, and is equipped with the usual conveniences for work in Chemistry.

Geology and Mineralogy. The collections at the service of the department are well chosen, and are rapidly growing. They comprise sets of crystal models and crystals, crystal sections for optical study, and rock sections in great number, besides mineralogical, lithological, and palæontological collections. The library is good and constantly being increased. The vicinity of Cleveland is interesting geologically, especially in regard to glacial deposits and its palæontology. It furnishes abundance of material for special investigation.

Household Administration. The laboratories of the department are at 2041 Adelbert Road, near Euclid Avenue. The rooms are spacious, have abundant light and air, and are fully equipped for individual work. In the foods laboratory it has been the aim to approximate as nearly as possible the equipment and conditions found in a well ordered home. Meals served in the dining room to guests are prepared in a family kitchen.

Laboratory work in institutional or lunchroom management is carried on in the two cafeterias conducted by the department upon the campus.

No uniform is required in laboratory classes, but each student is expected to provide herself with at least two white aprons of firm material and large enough to cover the skirt and front of waist.

Physics and Astronomy. The physical laboratory is a three-story building of sound and substantial construction, containing large lecture and laboratory rooms for the elementary courses, and a considerable number of smaller rooms for more advanced work. Special attention has been paid to heating, lighting, and ventilation. The department is equipped with a large variety of apparatus bearing on the courses at present offered, and new apparatus is being continually added.

Upon the physical laboratory has been erected an equatorial telescope, covered by a revolving dome. The telescope, of ten and one-half inches aperture and fifteen feet focal length, is equipped with all the necessary accessories for observation and measurement.

Cleveland Museum of Art. By courtesy of the Directors of the Cleveland Museum of Art, the students of the College for Women are granted tickets for free admission to the Museum. Students may apply for the privilege at the office of the Registrar of the College.

GYMNASIUM

At the beginning of the college year each student is examined by her own physician according to the prescribed form. Blanks filled out should be returned to the department before September 10. In addition to the medical examination mentioned above, new students are examined by the Director of Physical Education according to the system of measurements recommended by the American Association for the Advancement of Physical Education. Information concerning habits, general health, previous environment, and hereditary tendencies is desired. From these data and measurements exercise is prescribed or prohibited by the Director. Special exercises are prescribed for students requiring individual corrective work. Students enrolled in the department are expected to provide themselves with a regulation suit: white middy blouse and black tie, black serge bloomers, sweater, rubber-soled shoes and ballet slippers. Exercise is required three hours a week for Freshmen, Sophomores and special students, from the opening of college to the end of the year.

HAYDN HALL

Hadyn Hall, the gift of Mrs. Samuel Mather, was erected in 1902 for study and social purposes. It provides a study room for students, rooms for alumnae and class organizations, for the Young Women's Christian Association, for literary and musical clubs and for other student activities. The third floor is used as a dormitory, accommodating twenty students.

Luncheon, under the immediate supervision of the Household Administration Department, is served in Haydn Hall daily except Saturdays for the convenience of students who live at a distance. Well prepared food is served at moderate cost, and the luncheon hour affords students daily opportunities for better acquaintance with one another.

HALLS OF RESIDENCE

The halls of residence, Guilford House, Flora Mather House, and Haydn Hall, together accommodate about one hundred and thirty students. These houses are divided for the most part into single bed-rooms, although a few of especially large size are designed for two students. These rooms are fully furnished. The houses are well heated, lighted, and ventilated, and have excellent and well served tables. The aim of the housekeeping is to make the students' surroundings as homelike as possible.

Linen for beds and tables is provided, but each student supplies her own towels and extra bedding.

Those in charge of the management of these houses are governed by the desire to give each student such supervision as college women absent from home should receive, and yet to subject no one to unnecessary or annoying restraint. For that reason the conduct of the students in the halls of residence is largely under the supervision of the Self-Government Association.

The price of board and room is $500.00 for the year, to be paid in advance in two installments: three-fifths at the opening of college in September, and two-fifths at the beginning of the second half-year in February. In addition each student is required to pay a laundry fee of fifty cents a month for bed and table linen.

It is requested that separate payments be made for tuition and for living expenses.

At the time of making application for rooms, all students are required to make a deposit of $10.00 which will be forfeited if the application is withdrawn.

It is understood that rooms are engaged for the entire year, unless by special permission other arrangements are made. Claims for reduction arising from necessary withdrawals are to be adjusted with the Treasurer, and the date of withdrawal is to be reckoned from the day on which the Dean is informed of the fact by the parent or guardian.

For students remaining in residence during the Christmas or Spring recess an extra charge is made.

All correspondence regarding rooms should be addressed to the Dean.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

The students of the College for Women publish a journal called The Sun Dial. This periodical gives them an opportunity not merely to record or comment upon the events of college life and alumnae activities, but also to give expression to their literary interests. The College Annual, Varia Historia, is published by the Junior Class, as a part of the University Annual.

The student organizations include a Young Women's Christian Association, a Glee Club, a Dramatic Association, an Athletic Association, an Outing Club, and several literary and scientific societies. Eligibility for office in student organizations requires satisfactory grades.

The conduct of the student body as a whole is largely entrusted to the Students' Association.

HONORS

Six scholarship groups have been established, in one of which each student is placed, in accordance with her record at the close of the academic year. The following are regarded as minimum standards of attainment for admission to each group.

Group I—5 E grades over an average of G; average in credit points per course, 2.5.

Group II—3 E grades over an average of G; average in credit points per course, 2.3.

Group III—Average of G; average in credit points per course, 2.0.

Group IV—5 G grades over an average of F; average in credit points per course, 1.5.

Group V—Average of F; average in credit points per course, 1.0.

Group VI—No minimum standard; includes all students with averages lower than F.

Class honors are awarded at the end of each academic year as follows:

First honors to all students in the first scholarship group.

Second honors to all students in the second scholarship group.

Students who at the end of the junior year have received fifteen E grades above an average of G and who have met the special requirements of the curriculum for three years are given the privilege, after conference with an adviser, of pursuing special work free from the usual requirements.

Two honor prizes of one hundred dollars each are awarded to the two members of the senior class who at the end of the first half of the senior year have attained the highest grades during their course.

Degrees with honor are awarded as follows:

Summa cum laude to students who, during their course, have attained twenty-three E grades above an average of G.

Magna cum laude to students who have attained fifteen E grades above an average of G.

Cum laude to students who have attained eleven E grades above an average of G.

In the case of students pursuing technical courses these rules are subject to certain modifications.

PRIZES

The President's Prizes. A first prize of fifteen dollars and a second prize of ten dollars are offered for the best results in the work of the Physical Education department at the end of the Sophomore year.

The Holden Prize. Mr. L. E. Holden, of Cleveland, established a fund, from the income of which a prize of fifty dollars is awarded for the best essay written by a Senior or Junior on some subject selected by the department of English. The subject for the present academic year is any one of the following or something similar:

1. Chaucer and William Morris as Writers of Tales in Verse.
2. The Short Story in the Hands of Poe and Kipling.
3. Mrs. Meynell and her Circle.
4. Pepys's Diary as a Picture of the Author and his Times.
5. The Poetry of Robert Bridges as Representative of the Orthodox Tradition in English Verse.
6. Why Have Recent Attempts at Reviving Interest in the English Poetic Drama Been Unsuccessful?
7. What are the Outstanding Differences in the Art of Novel-Writing as practiced by Jane Austen and Thackeray on the One Hand, and by George Meredith and Henry James on the Other?

Essays in competition for this prize must be submitted not later than May 21 of each year. The essays should be signed with a pseudonym, and the name of the writer enclosed in a sealed envelope.

The Emily M. Hills Prize. In 1918 Miss Emily M. Hills left a legacy of five hundred dollars to the College for Women, the annual income of which shall be used as an annual prize for the best poem or essay written by a student of the College for Women. The department of English, under the direction of which the prize will be awarded, prefers to have the contest confined to poetry, since the Holden Prize is always given for the best essay. The Emily M. Hills Prize will be open to all regular students of the College without respect to any particular class. Contestants must hand their poems, unsigned, to the head of the department of English not later than May 21 of each year; but the name of each contestant, in a sealed envelope, should accompany her poem.

The Kate Miller Leggett Memorial Prize. In 1923 Miss Blanche C. Leggett established, in memory of her mother, an annual prize of twenty-five dollars to be awarded to a College for Women student, preferably a senior, for conspicuous ability in history, the recipient to be determined by the Department of History.

The Alumnae Historical Association Prize. In 1922 the Alumnae Historical Association established an annual prize of twenty-five dollars to be awarded to the student of the College for Women who presents the best historical essay.

DEGREES

The degree of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, or Bachelor of Education is conferred on students who have completed the amount of work outlined on pages 48-50 and 91.

Any student desiring to take the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science must fulfill the requirements for both degrees. Ordinarily the work for the two degrees will require at least five years.

PUBLICATION FUND

The income of the Francis G. Butler Publication Fund is devoted to the publication of original researches in the field of American history by professors or students of this College as well as of Adelbert College and the Graduate School.

DIVISION OF GRADUATE INSTRUCTION AND RESEARCH

The University offers to graduates of this college and other colleges the opportunity to pursue advanced courses of study and research, leading to the degree of Master of Arts. For further information, consult the Dean, Professor Elbert J. Benton.

COOPERATION WITH THE CLEVELAND SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

In 1920 two new degrees were established, Bachelor of Education and Master of Arts in Education.

The degree of Bachelor of Education is to be awarded to candidates who have completed all requirements in a four year course offered by the University in co-operation with the Cleveland School of Education. The University will accept the work of the Cleveland School of Education, or similar institutions of recognized standing, for credit toward this degree to the extent of not more than three years' work, or approximately ninety-six of the one hundred twenty-six hours. The remaining thirty hours will be done in the University, either in extension courses for teachers, in summer courses, or in the regular sessions of the Undergraduate Colleges.

The degree of Master of Arts in Education will be awarded to holders of a recognized Bachelor's degree who have completed graduate courses amounting to a full year's work of twenty-six hours, fourteen of which is to be done in residence at the University.

Full details covering the requirements for these degrees may be secured from the Registrar, School of Education, Stearns Road and East 109th Street.

THE SCHOOL OF APPLIED SOCIAL SCIENCES

This school offers to those who desire to enter social and civic work the advantages of specialized graduate study combined with practical professional training. Field work receives credit in the same way that laboratory work does in the older sciences. The city of Cleveland furnishes exceptional opportunities for gaining practical experience under the most favorable conditions.

Students in the College for Women who select the social sciences as their field of concentration may be able, if they properly plan their work, to complete the requirements for the Master's Degree in one year. For further information consult the appropriate section of the University catalogue or the Dean of the School of Applied Social Sciences, Professor J. E. Cutler.

THE SCHOOL OF LIBRARY SCIENCE

A school for the training of librarians has been established in the University by Mr. Andrew Carnegie. This school is co-ordinate with the other professional schools of the University. The course in combination with the College for Women is outlined under the requirements for graduation, and further information may be obtained from the catalogue or from Miss Alice S. Tyler, the Director of the School of Library Science.

THE SCHOOL OF NURSING

The School of Nursing offers a five-year course in Nursing which combines the advantages of college preparation with general and special professional training, leading to a Bachelor of Science degree and a Diploma in Nursing.

The greater part of the student's work during the first two years is taken in the College for Women. The third and fourth years are devoted to professional training in the University Group Hospitals. The work of the fifth year is largely elective, the student electing some branch of nursing work in which she is especially interested.

Certain courses given in the School of Nursing, such as Home Nursing, Physiology and Hygiene, and Microbiology, are open to students in the College for Women.

College graduates wishing to enter the School of Nursing are given credit toward the Diploma in Nursing for any required courses which they have satisfactorily completed during their college course.

Further information may be obtained from the catalogue, or from the Dean, Miss Louise M. Powell.

EXPENSES

Matriculation fee (payable at first registration and will not be refunded)	$ 5.00
Tuition for the year (one-half payable during registration each half-year. No portion will be refunded after 10 days)	250.00
Graduation fee (payable at last registration)	10.00
Annual Budget for Student Activities (will not be refunded)	8.00

Special students taking less than five three-hour courses in a half-year are charged $30.00 for one course, $60.00 for two courses, $125.00 for more than two courses each half-year.

In laboratory courses fees are charged to meet the cost of the perishable material. The amount in each case is indicated with the description of the course.

A fee of $1.50 is charged for a re-examination and fifty cents for a special test.

LOAN—SCHOLARSHIPS

Certain annual loan-scholarships are awarded to students of promise. Conference with the Dean either in person or by letter is invited. Scholarships are granted annually upon application, but may be withdrawn for cause at the end of one half-year.

The Alumnae Association has also established a Fund which can be used for similar purposes. Students receiving these benefits are expected to maintain their standing in scholarship and to finish their course here. If dismissal to another college is sought, the College dues, including the amounts given or lent, must first be paid.

The opportunities offered by the College for the higher education of young women of limited means are presented to the attention of those who desire to promote such work by the establishment of scholarships for worthy students.
